IBM Role in Defense Explained to Kiwanis

Approximately 130 members and guests of the Kingston Kiwanis Club yesterday witnessed the first local showing of a sound-color film which provides an insight to the important national defense project being accomplished by International Business Machines Corporation at its Kingston plant.

The movie was shown during the Kiwanians' meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, documenting a talk by Robert P. Crago, assistant general manager of IBM Kingston.

Produced by Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the U. S. Air Force, it is entitled "SAGE," and describes graphically a new concept in continental air defense. It also punctuates the importance of IBM's role in this Semi-automatic Ground Environment system since the organization is manufacturing the digital computers which constitute the "heart" of the system.

In his remarks which prefaced the movie, Mr. Crago disclosed that approximately 3,000 persons (2,300 at the Kingston plant and 700 at Poughkeepsie and Lexington, Mass.) are now employed by IBM in the manufacture of these computers which have been described as the "largest and most reliable" ever produced.

Mr. Crago pointed out that the new plant of IBM's Military Products Division on Neighborhood Road has been designed and constructed specifically for the manufacture of the computers.

After seeing the film, local leaders expressed surprise at the magnitude of the project and pride in the fact that Kingston was playing an impportant part in it.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang said, "We're certainly proud to have an organization in our midst which is achieving such marvelous work."

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, said, "It was a privilege to see this film. The magnitude of this project is tremendous and it's an honor to know that Kingston is playing such an important part."

District Attorney Howard C. St. John commented, "It is comforting to know that America is acutely aware of the dangers and is doing something about protecting us from whatever might come. It's doubly satisfying to realize that a local firm is performing such an integral role in our national defense."

Herman Schwenk, president of the Kiwanis Club, declared, "We Kiwanians are honored to be the first local organization to see the film and especially so since it is vastly important not only to Kingston but to all of America. We thank IBM for that privilege."

Mr. Crago was introduced by Gavin A. Cullen, general manager of IBM Kingston.

17 Billion Pieces Of Mail Estimated

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Post Office Department estimated today it will handle something more than 17 billion pieces of mail in the final quarter of this year.

The figure, about a billion pieces higher than that for the last three months of 1954, amounts to an average of more than 300 pieces for every family in America.

This month's deliveries alone, reflecting the holiday rush, are expected to reach a record of about 7,330,000,000 pieces, or 2½ billion above the normal 1955 month. The December handle last year totaled 6,900,000,000 pieces.

Jury Awards $25,105 in Trinkle Case

Verdicts totaling $25,105 were returned Thursday night in Supreme Court in the three actions brought by William P. Trinkle of Port Ewen, his wife Dorothy and infant daughter, Deborah, against Joseph H. Smith & Company and the driver of the Smith Company tractor trailer. The accident happened at the entrance to the Rondout Creek bridge on March 26, 1953 while Mr. Trinkle was driving his car over Abeel street and about to enter the bridge. The truck was proceeding north off the bridge and had passed a red light, according to a police report.

Mr. Trinkle was severely injured and was awarded $20,000. Mrs. Trinkle was awarded $5,000 and the jury found for the infant child $105, the amount of expenses.

Hails Gaitskell Election

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Winthrop Aldrich, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain, said today the election of Hugh Gaitskell as head of the British Labor party "is a splendid thing." "I think he's just the right man for it," Aldrich said. "I've known him for many years and he's a first-class man in every way." Aldrich and Mrs. Aldrich arrived on the liner United States to spend the Christmas holidays at their New York home. Aldrich plans to go back to England the first week in January and return to the United States in time for the Jan. 30 conference in Washington with British Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

Raschi Recovers Bonds

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Vic Raschi, former New York Yankee pitching star, today reported he had recovered $40,000 worth of non-negotiable securities he lost yesterday. Raschi declined to identify the finder of the bonds, but said he was informed by telephone last night that the securities had been found. He said he was coming to Rochester today to retrieve them. Raschi said he believed the bonds dropped from his pocket when he was getting out of his car in Rochester. Raschi lives on Conesus Lake about 30 miles south of here.

New School Bus Rule Is Announced

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Joseph P. Kelly, state motor vehicle commissioner, today announced a new regulation broadening the law requiring motorists to halt for stopped school buses.

Kelly said the new rule requires school bus drivers, when stopping, to flash red lights and motorists to stop when the bus is being used for several "school activities."

These are, Kelly said: Extra-curricular activities such as athletics, dramatics and musicals; field trips directly connected with subjects included in the school curricula, and school dances and other similar functions.

Previously, the law required motorists to stop only when meeting a halted school bus carrying pupils to and from classes.

The vehicle and traffic law was amended this year to cover buses traveling in connection with "school activities."

Area CC Favors City-Wide Off-Street Parking Setup

A comprehensive city-wide municipally operated off-street parking lot program is favored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. This action was taken at a meeting of the board of directors this week.

A report made by traffic engineers of the Automobile Club of New York was recently presented at a combined meeting of the Chamber of Commerce committees on Parking and Traffic by Mayor Frederick H. Stang. This report recommended a gradual development of a city-wide program of relatively small, self-liquidating parking areas throughout the city with the first phase or step in the uptown area. Favorable action was recommended by the committees.

A careful check of street parking meter revenue indicated an income of over $100 per year per meter in some areas while the complete 10 year amortization on some parking lots could be accomplished with an income of $50 or $60 per meter. In other areas of the city the revenue from street meters is below $25 per year.

The following is a complete text of the parking resolution adopted by the Chamber of Commerce:

WHEREAS a thorough study of the parking problem in the City of Kingston was made by traffic engineers of the Automobile Club of New York, which contains a comprehensive long-time, city-wide program to meet the parking problem on a self-liquidating basis without cost to the general taxpayer;

Be it resolved that the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce recommendes and urges that the necessary steps be taken by the mayor and Common Council to make a complete study of costs and availability of lands required to develop parking lots Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 in the Auto Club report as the first phase of a comprehensive city-wide program to solve the off-street parking problem in the City of Kingston; and

Be it further resolved that the Chamber of Commerce recommends and urges that at least two of the above-mentioned lots be acquired by the City and improved for parking at the earliest possible date, and that a long-time program be developed to provide off-street parking in all parts of the City in line with the recommendations made in the report submitted by the Automobile Club of New York which suggests the development of the various proposed lots as the estimated total revenue will carry the costs involved. Certified copies of this resolution have been forwarded to Mayor Frederick H. Stang and to the Common Council.

4-H Winners Reported

Speakers Cover All Topics for Growers

One of the most successful shows ever presented by the New York State Horticultural Society came to a close at noon after three days of exhibits, speeches and contests.

Several thousand growers and interested persons from many parts of the United States attended the 101st annual Eastern Meeting at the state armory, headquarters of the 156th Field Artillery Armored Battalion, New York National Guard.

SPEAKERS ON many different topics of vital interest to fruit growers addressed well-attended meetings in the gymnasium of the armory. Hundreds thronged among the 60 exhibits which included the very latest farm equipment, paused to examine interesting exhibits prepared by the College of Agriculture, State Experiment Station and the Poughkeepsie Laboratory or watched apple identification and pie-baking contests sponsored by the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America.

The Marlborough Sparkplugs and the Marlborough 4-H Club tied for first place in the 4-H insect injury and disease identification contest held Wednesday. Each team scored a total of 170 points.

Third place went to Kingston High with 169 points, fourth to Pine Plains Team No. 1 with 166 points, fifth to Arlington with 152 points and sixth to Pine Plains Team No. 2 with 144 points.

IN THE individual competition Peter Henry of the Marlborough 4-H Club placed first with a total of 68 points. Charles Blake of the Arlington team second with 62 points, Jerry Freligh of the Marlborough Sparkplugs, David Mollenhauer of Kingston High and James Shook of Pine Plains Team No. 2 tying for third place with 60 points.

Kingston High School placed first in the 4-H apple variety identification and judging contest with a total of 244 points. Arlington in Dutchess county was second with a score of 182 points, Marlborough 4-H third with 169, Marlborough Sparkplugs fourth with 165, Pine Plains Team No. 2 fifth with 136 and Pine Plains Team No. 1 sixth with 121.

William Laughlin of Kingston High School was first in individual scoring with 84 points, Bruce Bonesteel of KHS second with 83 points, Emory LeMay and James Voeker of KHS trying for third with 77 points and Jerry Patterson of Marlborough Sparkplugs fifth with 76 points.

Paula Abelove of Ulster county was awarded first prize in the apple pie-baking contest with Barbara Holmes of Columbia county, white ribbon; Barbara Bowe of Dutchess county, red ribbon; Beverly Starr of Greene county, blue ribbon; Jeanne Finley of Orange county, red ribbon; Carol Ferris of Saratoga county, red ribbon. and Rita Skizinski of Warren county, blue ribbon.

Beth Engstrom of Columbia county was first in the "other fruit pie" contest (cherry, peach and blueberry) with Eugenie Krummenoehl of Nassau county second. Both of these girls baked cherry pies. Other awards were as follows: Mary Lou Vamosy of Delaware county, red ribbon; Gail Thorne of Dutchess county, red ribbon; Barbara Hull of Greene county, white ribbon; Meg Bellow of Orange county, red ribbon, and Mary Ellsworth of Ulster county, red ribbon.

Armstrong, Norton Quit Police Force

Resignations of two patrolmen and a member of the school patrol were accepted by the Board of Police Commissioners at its December meeting yesterday.

Both patrolmen will leave the force to take positions with IBM. They are William Norton, 21 Mary's avenue, who was appointed Nov. 1, 1951 and Hydrect Armstrong, of 49 Gage street, who was appointed June 22, 1953.

Resignations are effective Dec. 24 and due to leave also is Mrs. Brenda Tobiassen, of 17 New street, who has served with the school patrol at School No. 2 for some time.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren's report for November showed 23 persons injured in 17 local traffic mishaps and 95 arrests made.

Of the accidents, 11 involved two or more motor vehicles, in which 17 persons were injured, four pedestrians were hurt and two were injured when vehicles ran off roadways.

Of the arrests, 36 were for public intoxication, 25 for violations of the city traffic code, 17 for violationss of the vehicle and traffic law, five for disorderly conduct, two for burglary, third degree and one for third degree assault.

Three arrests were for juvenile delinquency and one each second degree forgery, grand larceny secohd degree and petit larceny.

Of those arrested, 25 were fined, 24 were given suspended sentences, and 14 were committed to jail. Two were discharged, 12 forfeited bail, and four cases were referred to the grand jury. Eight cases were listed as still pending.

Buying Ahead of 1954

Higher Payrolls Spur Yule Shopping Here

Christmas buying in Kingston stores, stimulated by increased total payrolls in the area, is slightly ahead of last year, according to a survey of uptown businessmen made by The Freeman today.

While merchants remained open until 9 p. m., last night for the first time this holiday season, businessmen questioned in the survey were all agreed that it was "slow" for the opening night. Stores will continue to stay open until 9 p. m. until Saturday, Dec. 24, Christmas Eve. On that day they will close at 5 p. m.

Innovations in this season's holiday shopping include free parking at Dietz Memorial Stadium and free bus transportation for such parkers to and from Wall street arranged by the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, said he felt increased total payrolls in the area were "a big factor" in this season's buying. He said very active buying has been noted to date and the added conveniences afforded by the merchants are undoubtedly a contributing factor to the attractiveness of buying in Kingston stores.

"Excellent," was the comment of Jay Melton, manager of the Standard Furniture Co. store, 267 Fair street. Mr. Melton said the buying thus far had broken store records, although it was "a little slow" last night.

Vincent R. Burns, manager of the Montgomery Ward store, 25 North Front street, said buying is "well ahead of last year" and if the pace continues "it will be the biggest Christmas ever." Mr. Burns said he felt last night's shopping was up to expectations.

A spokesman at Rowe's Shoe Store, 34 John street, said he felt it was "a little better than last year," although last night was "quiet."

State Votes 30 Million For Floods

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—The special session of the State Legislature adjourned last night, after passing a program to deal with problems created by the recent floods.

The laws approved provide for flood control, relief and reconstruction.

The session was called six weeks ago, after the August and October floods left nearly 100 dead and more than 200 million dollars in damage in the state.

The Legislature approved a 30-million-dollar flood recovery and reconstruction program, mostly to pay for damage to bridges and roads.

Democrats Oppose Adoption

Cuts Are Made on Audit Bureau OK

A county budget of $5,409,145.95 was adopted by the board of supervisors Thursday night, following a public hearing on proposed figures in the afternoon at the court house on Wall street. The vote was 19-8.

The tentative total was $5,572,360.95, before cuts were made amounting to $363,215.

In the coming year, $2,310,140.52 will have to be raised by tax levy, $431,686.69 more than this year's levy which was $1,878,453.83.

DOWNWARD REVISION of the proposed budget was made after advice from the New York State Department of Audit and Control which said:

Anticipated revenue of $100,000 from state and federal assistance for flood damage could be considered as revenue.

That it was not necessary to include in the budget and raise five per cent of the anticipated cost of the proposed county office building and cost of bridge work before a bond issue could be authorized.

That $100,000 in the general fund could be considered as surplus and credited toward a reduction of the tax levy.

OPPOSITION was slight at the public hearing, coming from representatives of the Farm Bureau, Home Bureau and 4-H Club, who were against reduction of appropriations for their organizations.

Leon Studt, president of the Ulster County Civil Service Chapter, asked that pay consideration be given employes at the County Infirmary.

He said "people taking care of the patients should be taken care of themselves."

Cuts planned for the three organizations were restored as follows:

Farm Bureau, $1,150, after appeals made by Supervisor Fred DuBois of New Paltz and William Coy.

Home Bureau, $885, the appeal being made by Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, and Mrs. William McNamee of West Hurley.

INCREASES were made as follows:

Surrogate's office, $180.

Commissioner of jurors' office, $200.

Welfare fund, $520 for additional administration costs.

There was an appropriation of $3,000 added to the budget for the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to help in its work throughout the county and help maintain a shelter built by the organization from its own funds.

Total increases amounted to $11,785.

DEMOCRAT Supervisors Turck, Fiore, Carroll, Doughtery, Marshall, Perry, Albright and Howard, all voted against adoption. Supervisor Gaffney (D) of Lloyd who was a member of the committee and had signed the report, said he would vote for adoption but with the qualification that he felt it would be better to know what the highway and bridge experts might recommend for construction program before approval of that program.

The salary committee also submitted its report in which there were numerous minor ad-

Higher Phone Rate Loses, 8 Million Boost Is Granted

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—The New York Telephone Co. has lost its fight for $34,380,000 a year in rate increases, but has been granted special and supplementary rate boosts amounting to eight millions annually.

The Public Service Commission, in turning down the company's higher rate plea last night, also refused a demand by New York city to cut phone rates immediately by $31,800,000 a year and an eventual permanent reduction of more than 41 millions a year.

Keith S. McHugh, president of the telephone company, termed the increase granted "extremely disappointing" and "wholly inadequate." He said much more was needed to expand and improve facilities and services to meet public demand.

The bulk of the PSC-sanctioned increases, about 5¾ million dollars, will come from increases to private line stations and on switchboard and other facilities used by business firms.

The remaining 2¼ million will come from a 25 cents a month boost to residential and business subscribers in about 150 exchanges which have

Armstrong, Norton Quit Police Force

Resignations of two patrolmen and a member of the school patrol were accepted by the Board of Police Commissioners at its December meeting yesterday.

Both patrolmen will leave the force to take positions with IBM. They are William Norton, 21 Mary's avenue, who was appointed Nov. 1, 1951 and Hydrect Armstrong, of 49 Gage street, who was appointed June 22, 1953.

Resignations are effective Dec. 24 and due to leave also is Mrs. Brenda Tobiassen, of 17 New street, who has served with the school patrol at School No. 2 for some time.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren's report for November showed 23 persons injured in 17 local traffic mishaps and 95 arrests made.

Of the accidents, 11 involved two or more motor vehicles, in which 17 persons were injured, four pedestrians were hurt and two were injured when vehicles ran off roadways.

Of the arrests, 36 were for public intoxication, 25 for violations of the city traffic code, 17 for violationss of the vehicle and traffic law, five for disorderly conduct, two for burglary, third degree and one for third degree assault.

Three arrests were for juvenile delinquency and one each second degree forgery, grand larceny second degree and petit larceny.

Of those arrested, 25 were fined, 24 were given suspended sentences, and 14 were committed to jail. Two were discharged, 12 forfeited bail, and four cases were referred to the grand jury. Eight cases were listed as still pending.

Buying Ahead of 1954

Higher Payrolls Spur Yule Shopping Here

Christmas buying in Kingston stores, stimulated by increased total payrolls in the area, is slightly ahead of last year, according to a survey of uptown businessmen made by The Freeman today.

While merchants remained open until 9 p. m., last night for the first time this holiday season, businessmen questioned in the survey were all agreed that it was "slow" for the opening night. Stores will continue to stay open until 9 p. m. until Saturday, Dec. 24, Christmas Eve. On that day they will close at 5 p. m.

Innovations in this season's holiday shopping include free parking at Dietz Memorial Stadium and free bus transportation for such parkers to and from Wall street arranged by the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, said he felt increased total payrolls in the area were "a big factor" in this season's buying. He said very active buying has been noted to date and the added conveniences afforded by the merchants are undoubtedly a contributing factor to the attractiveness of buying in Kingston stores.

"Excellent," was the comment of Jay Melton, manager of the Standard Furniture Co. store, 267 Fair street. Mr. Melton said the buying thus far had broken store records, although it was "a little slow" last night.

Vincent R. Burns, manager of the Montgomery Ward store, 25 North Front street, said buying is "well ahead of last year" and if the pace continues "it will be the biggest Christmas ever." Mr. Burns said he felt last night's shopping was up to expectations.

A spokesman at Rowe's Shoe Store, 34 John street, said he felt it was "a little better than last year," although last night was "quiet."

State Votes 30 Million For Floods

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—The special session of the State Legislature adjourned last night, after passing a program to deal with problems created by the recent floods.

The laws approved provide for flood control, relief and reconstruction.

The session was called six weeks ago, after the August and October floods left nearly 100 dead and more than 200 million dollars in damage in the state.

The Legislature approved a 30-million-dollar flood recovery and reconstruction program, mostly to pay for damage to bridges and roads.

Democrats Oppose Adoption

Cuts Are Made on Audit Bureau OK

A county budget of $5,409,145.95 was adopted by the board of supervisors Thursday night, following a public hearing on proposed figures in the afternoon at the court house on Wall street. The vote was 19-8.

The tentative total was $5,572,360.95 , before cuts were made amounting to $363,215.

In the coming year, $2,310,140.52 will have to be raised by tax levy, $431,686.69 more than this year's levy which was $1,878,453.83.

DOWNWARD REVISION of the proposed budget was made after advice from the New York State Department of Audit and Control which said:

Anticipated revenue of $100,000 from state and federal assistance for flood damage could be considered as revenue.

That it was not necessary to include in the budget and raise five per cent of the anticipated cost of the proposed county office building and cost of bridge work before a bond issue could be authorized.

That $100,000 in the general fund could be considered as surplus and credited toward a reduction of the tax levy.

OPPOSITION was slight at the public hearing, coming from representatives of the Farm Bureau, Home Bureau and 4-H Club, who were against reduction of appropriations for their organizations.

Leon Studt, president of the Ulster County Civil Service Chapter, asked that pay consideration be given employes at the County Infirmary.

He said "people taking care of the patients should be taken care of themselves."

Cuts planned for the three organizations were restored as follows:

Farm Bureau, $1,150, after appeals made by Supervisor Fred DuBois of New Paltz and William Coy.

Home Bureau, $885, the appeal being made by Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, and Mrs. William McNamee of West Hurley.

INCREASES were made as follows:

Surrogate's office, $180.

Commissioner of jurors' office, $200.

Welfare fund, $520 for additional administration costs.

There was an appropriation of $3,000 added to the budget for the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to help in its work throughout the county and help maintain a shelter built by the organization from its own funds.

Total increases amounted to $11,785.

DEMOCRAT Supervisors Turck, Fiore, Carroll, Doughtery, Marshall, Perry, Albright and Howard, all voted against adoption. Supervisor Gaffney (D) of Lloyd who was a member of the committee and had signed the report, said he would vote for adoption but with the qualification that he felt it would be better to know what the highway and bridge experts might recommend for construction program before approval of that program.

The salary committee also submitted its report in which there were numerous minor ad-

Higher Phone Rate Loses, 8 Million Boost Is Granted

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—The New York Telephone Co. has lost its fight for $34,380,000 a year in rate increases, but has been granted special and supplementary rate boosts amounting to eight millions annually.

The Public Service Commission, in turning down the company's higher rate plea last night, also refused a demand by New York city to cut phone rates immediately by $31,800,000 a year and an eventual permanent reduction of more than 41 millions a year.

Keith S. McHugh, president of the telephone company, termed the increase granted "extremely disappointing" and "wholly inadequate." He said much more was needed to expand and improve facilities and services to meet public demand.

The bulk of the PSC-sanctioned increases, about 5¾ million dollars, will come from increases to private line stations and on switchboard and other facilities used by business firms.

The remaining 2¼ million will come from a 25 cents a month boost to residential and business subscribers in about 150 exchanges which have

Retail Competition Brings Revival of Trading Stamps

By SAM DAWSON

It's born of today's keener retail competition. The aim is to get a shopper into a particular store. And it seems to work, just as it did in an earlier day.

TODAY'S collectors of trading stamps are estimated to cash in around one billion dollars worth a year for various gadgets offered as premiums.

The housewife treasures these bits of paper handed out according to how much she spends. To her it means getting something for nothing—even if the statisticians contend it doesn't really work out that way because it can only lead to higher prices.

Two generations ago there was a similar craze. Then boys filled books with stamps until they had enough to buy a magic lantern. Their granddaughters fill books today till they can turn them in for an automatic electric percolator or maybe a space helmet for the small fry.

SOMETIMES stamp wars break out among stores in a city. One retailer will hand out two or more stamps instead of the usual one for each 10 cents of purchases. The customer couldn't be happier—stamps look just like an extra year-end dividend does to a stockholder. And, of course, companies who run stamp plans thrive on it.

Stamp companies — one of them now operating was in business 50 years ago—sell the trading stamps to the grocer for from ¼ to 1/3 cent a piece. Usually a stamp is handed out with each 10 cents of purchases.

When a customer has finally purchased, say, $500 worth of groceries, she will consult a catalogue, pick out a $12 to $14 gadget and get it with her stamp books at a premium center run by the stamp company.

THE HOUSEWIFE fells she's got a rebate on her food bill. The stamp company has the proceeds of sale of the stamps, plus the windfall that not all stamps will be returned for redemption.

How about the merchant? If he's the only one in town to have a trading stamp plan, his trade may rise as much as 40 per cent. The increase in gross sales more than makes up for the cost.

Who actually bears the freight? In the above example, the rival merchants without stamps are in a sense bearing the user's cost of stamps and premiums through their own loss of trade.

But if the rival merchants adopt stamp plans in self defense, soon all are likely to be right back competitively where they started. As one merchant says: "People only use so much soap, stamps or no stamps, and total sales in a town don't change." Others deny this, contending that customers actually buy more things just to add to their stamp collections.

WHEN ALL merchants are passing out stamps, the tendency is to make up for the cost of the stamps and the handling by raising markups.

Critics of the plan contend that over the long run the customer may pay 4 per cent more for her groceries. If this is correct, it means that on her $500 of purchases she has paid $20 more, in higher markups, to get stamps to turn in for a $12 to $14 gadget.

But all agree that customers seem to love it. And many merchants favor it as a sales booster and can show you sales figures to prove it.

Released on Bail

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—A Long Island youth involved in a sports car crash in which a fellow Bard College student was killed Oct. 23 was released in $2,500 bail today pending trial on charges of criminal negligence and assault. Peter J. Schmauss, 21, of 121 Whitehall Boulevard, Garden City, pleaded innocent at his arraignment in Dutchess County Court. Trial was set tentatively for the March term of the court. Police said Schmauss was at the wheel of an imported car in an informal "drag" race—a race from a standing start—in the village of Red Hook and that the car struck a tree.

Turncoat Reaches U. S.

Minneapolis, Dec. 16 (AP)—Richard Tenneson, the Minnesota farm boy who once renounced America for communism, returned to his native soil today and a reunion with the mother who never abandoned faith that he would come back. The 22-year-old former soldier walked down the ramp of a commercial passenger plane at 8:55 a. m. (CST) here today and met his mother, Mrs. Portia Howe, in a long embrace. The Alden, Minn. farm woman walked halfway up the ramp to greet the son she had not seen for five years.

Dutchess Cracks Down on Four Dope Peddlers

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Two men and two women from Buffalo, N. Y., picked up while traveling on the Taconic State Parkway, today were sent to prison on dope charges.

In the course of the proceedings in Dutchess County Court, Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta flung out a warning to dope couriers to stay out of Dutchess county.

COUNTY JUDGE John R. Schwartz imposed these sentences on the four (no street addresses available), all of whom pleaded guilty:

Ann Lavelle, 22, one to three years in Bedford Hills, N. Y., state prison for women for attempted possession of narcotics.

Margaret Miller, 20, two to four years in Bedford Hills for possession of a hypodermic needle and other narcotic equipment.

James Jarrett, 35, one to three years in Sing Sing for attempting to possess narcotics.

George Fred Robinson, 36, a second offender, two and a half to five years in Sing Sing for attempting to possess narcotics.

After Jarrett's plea, the district attorney advised him to "tell the people in Sing Sing—the dope pushers and peddlers—that we in Dutchess county will not put up with any transportation of dope through our boundaries."

Igniters Told Site Is Big Step In Club's Goal

Attorneys Sherwood E. Davis and S. James Matthews were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of Kingston Igniters on Thursday evening.

Mr. Davis spoke of the responsibilities of the membership in observing traffic laws and said the acquisition of property off South Wall street for a garage and meeting room was a big step forward toward attainment of the club's goal. The property was leased to the club by Mrs. Hazel De Paola without fee.

HE SAID further contributions to the organization would be forthcoming only so long as the membership proved by its driving conduct that it was worthy of the consideration.

Mr. Matthews discussed parliamentary procedure and conducting meetings. He also reviewed vehicular laws and urged the members to observe stringently the traffic laws.

New Vote Fails To Break Seat Deadlock in UN

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—A new round of voting failed today to break the deadlock between the Philippines and Yugoslavia for a seat in the UN Security Council.

With 11 newly admitted members voting, the Philippines at one point received 40 votes to Yugoslavia's 28. But on the next ballot the score was 37-32, and the result remained indecisive.

A TWO-THIRDS majority of those voting in the General Assembly was required to elect.

After five ballots this morning—the 30th to 35th ballots since October—the session adjourned until later in the day to permit delegates to seek a compromise.

The Assembly was scheduled to end its 1955 session tonight. President Jose Maza of Chile said he would keep the delegates in session until the council seat was filled. He pleaded:

"I BEG YOU, gentlemen, both candidates and other delegates, to endeavor in the interim to come to some agreement, for it does not enhance the prestige of the United Nations to continue these ballots indefinitely."

Young Slayer Dies

Vandergrift, Pa., Dec. 16 (AP)—A loved crazed youth who killed three persons and wounded two others died last night six hours after he was shot down in a gun fight with a posse that hunted him for 16 hours. John Fallone, 17, died at nearby Armstrong County Memorial Hospital where his would-be girl friend, Gladys Smail, 15, lay in critical condition from shots fired into her chest by the berserk boy. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Smail, and her uncle, William Smail, were shot down by Fallone Wednesday night in this rural community.

County Budget

THE INCREASE for supervisors salary brought out protests from several supervisors but the schedule was adopted by a 24 to 3 vote. Supervisor Turck, Howard and Perry (D) all voting against the adoption on the grounds they did not approve the board voting itself an increase in salary. They said they were in favor of the other raises.

Turck (D) said he believed the salary of the elected officials should be by referendum of the people and the other two agreed on that score.

UNDER the salary schedule county employes under 10 years will get 15 days vacation and over 10 years 20 days vacation. An allowance of 12 days a year for sickness, cumulative to 120 days is allowed.

DURING the vote on adoption of the budget Supervisor Turck (D) objected, saying about half the budget was for "other expenses" which were unexplained. Supervisor McHugh (R) replied that a study of the budget would disclose what those items were.

Burton Marshall (D) raised the question of cost of operation of the county farm. The cost is $24,300 and income $3,000. He suggested abandonment of the farm or renting or leasing it to local farmers.

Supervisor Fiore (D) took exception to the county road fund items and said it seemed "silly" to appropriate more money when there was a possibility it would not be needed. He cited last year's unexpended balance.

McHugh said more work was anticipated in 1956 and he said some of the roads were in terrible condition and needed attention.

Fiore said he believed the county should await a report from the bridge and highway experts before money was spent on a road and bridge program. Some of the work done might be a waste of money under the county program unless the report of the experts had been received and considered.

An item of $110,000 in the Machinery fund for "personal services" under maintenance was questioned by the Democrat members. It was explained this item included personal services not only in maintenance of machinery but also operation of machinery.

A communication was received from the Automatic Voting Machine Company stating orders should now be placed for additional machines to take care of anticipated heavier vote next election when a presidential election will be included.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

NATO in Secret Session to Meet World Problems

Paris, Dec. 16 (AP) — Fifteen foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance sought in secret session today to coordinate their policy for dealing with danger spots all over the globe.

Each attended the meeting, which lasted three hours, accompanied by only two top advisers. Spokesmen would only say afterwards that the talk ranged all around the world where ever there were problems directly or indirectly affecting the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

U. S. SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles warned yesterday that Russia has opened two dangerous new fronts in the cold war—the Middle East and southern Asia.

The ministers concentrated their attention on the explosive Middle Eastern situation, especially the effect on other NATO members of Turkish and British participation in the Baghdad pact. Portugal also raised the issue of her dispute with India over the status of Goa.

Some of the time was devoted to economic cooperation among the member nations—a subject which will come up again in plenary session during the afternoon when non-military activities of the alliance will be tackled.

State Votes . . .

project to house people who lost their homes in the floods was approved. It will be financed by a bond issue.

A 14-million-dollar urban redevelopment program was approved, with the state to pay its share of the cost—one-sixth. Towns will pay an equal amount, the federal government the rest.

The state will take 15½ million dollars from the highway fund to pay for half of the reconstruction and relief program. The rest will come from temporary increases in the sales tax, the corporation tax, the cigarette tax, the alcohol tax and the amusement tax.

The highway fund will be paid back by an extension of the gasoline tax.

Bill which didn't get through would have extended rent controls, allowed businessmen and corporations to write off flood losses in taxes, and lightened recent heavy penalties recently enacted for narcotics offenders.

Poultry Platters

Corvallis, Ore. (AP) — For two years Martin Lobby, Corvallis poultryman, treated his flock to radio music to boost egg production. Then the music went bad and egg-laying fell off. Lobby called Robert Brownell, power company service man. He determined that electric tools being used on plumbing repairs at a nearby school was causing interference with the radio waves. He solved the problem neatly and quickly by loaning Lobby his record player until the plumbing repairs could be completed. And the hens began laying again.

Retail Competition Brings Revival of Trading Stamps

By SAM DAWSON

It's born of today's keener retail competition. The aim is to get a shopper into a particular store. And it seems to work, just as it did in an earlier day.

TODAY'S collectors of trading stamps are estimated to cash in around one billion dollars worth a year for various gadgets offered as premiums.

The housewife treasures these bits of paper handed out according to how much she spends. To her it means getting something for nothing—even if the statisticians contend it doesn't really work out that way because it can only lead to higher prices.

Two generations ago there was a similar craze. Then boys filled books with stamps until they had enough to buy a magic lantern. Their granddaughters fill books today till they can turn them in for an automatic electric percolator or maybe a space helmet for the small fry.

SOMETIMES stamp wars break out among stores in a city. One retailer will hand out two or more stamps instead of the usual one for each 10 cents of purchases. The customer couldn't be happier—stamps look just like an extra year-end dividend does to a stockholder. And, of course, companies who run stamp plans thrive on it.

Stamp companies — one of them now operating was in business 50 years ago—sell the trading stamps to the grocer for from ¼ to 1/3 cent a piece. Usually a stamp is handed out with each 10 cents of purchases.

When a customer has finally purchased, say, $500 worth of groceries, she will consult a catalogue, pick out a $12 to $14 gadget and get it with her stamp books at a premium center run by the stamp company.

THE HOUSEWIFE fells she's got a rebate on her food bill. The stamp company has the proceeds of sale of the stamps, plus the windfall that not all stamps will be returned for redemption.

How about the merchant? If he's the only one in town to have a trading stamp plan, his trade may rise as much as 40 per cent. The increase in gross sales more than makes up for the cost.

Who actually bears the freight? In the above example, the rival merchants without stamps are in a sense bearing the user's cost of stamps and premiums through their own loss of trade.

But if the rival merchants adopt stamp plans in self defense, soon all are likely to be right back competitively where they started. As one merchant says: "People only use so much soap, stamps or no stamps, and total sales in a town don't change." Others deny this, contending that customers actually buy more things just to add to their stamp collections.

WHEN ALL merchants are passing out stamps, the tendency is to make up for the cost of the stamps and the handling by raising markups.

Critics of the plan contend that over the long run the customer may pay 4 per cent more for her groceries. If this is correct, it means that on her $500 of purchases she has paid $20 more, in higher markups, to get stamps to turn in for a $12 to $14 gadget.

But all agree that customers seem to love it. And many merchants favor it as a sales booster and can show you sales figures to prove it.

Released on Bail

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—A Long Island youth involved in a sports car crash in which a fellow Bard College student was killed Oct. 23 was released in $2,500 bail today pending trial on charges of criminal negligence and assault. Peter J. Schmauss, 21, of 121 Whitehall Boulevard, Garden City, pleaded innocent at his arraignment in Dutchess County Court. Trial was set tentatively for the March term of the court. Police said Schmauss was at the wheel of an imported car in an informal "drag" race—a race from a standing start—in the village of Red Hook and that the car struck a tree.

Turncoat Reaches U. S.

Minneapolis, Dec. 16 (AP)—Richard Tenneson, the Minnesota farm boy who once renounced America for communism, returned to his native soil today and a reunion with the mother who never abandoned faith that he would come back. The 22-year-old former soldier walked down the ramp of a commercial passenger plane at 8:55 a. m. (CST) here today and met his mother, Mrs. Portia Howe, in a long embrace. The Alden, Minn. farm woman walked halfway up the ramp to greet the son she had not seen for five years.

Dutchess Cracks Down on Four Dope Peddlers

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Two men and two women from Buffalo, N. Y., picked up while traveling on the Taconic State Parkway, today were sent to prison on dope charges.

In the course of the proceedings in Dutchess County Court, Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta flung out a warning to dope couriers to stay out of Dutchess county.

COUNTY JUDGE John R. Schwartz imposed these sentences on the four (no street addresses available), all of whom pleaded guilty:

Ann Lavelle, 22, one to three years in Bedford Hills, N. Y., state prison for women for attempted possession of narcotics.

Margaret Miller, 20, two to four years in Bedford Hills for possession of a hypodermic needle and other narcotic equipment.

James Jarrett, 35, one to three years in Sing Sing for attempting to possess narcotics.

George Fred Robinson, 36, a second offender, two and a half to five years in Sing Sing for attempting to possess narcotics.

After Jarrett's plea, the district attorney advised him to "tell the people in Sing Sing—the dope pushers and peddlers—that we in Dutchess county will not put up with any transportation of dope through our boundaries."

Igniters Told Site Is Big Step In Club's Goal

Attorneys Sherwood E. Davis and S. James Matthews were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of Kingston Igniters on Thursday evening.

Mr. Davis spoke of the responsibilities of the membership in observing traffic laws and said the acquisition of property off South Wall street for a garage and meeting room was a big step forward toward attainment of the club's goal. The property was leased to the club by Mrs. Hazel De Paola without fee.

HE SAID further contributions to the organization would be forthcoming only so long as the membership proved by its driving conduct that it was worthy of the consideration.

Mr. Matthews discussed parliamentary procedure and conducting meetings. He also reviewed vehicular laws and urged the members to observe stringently the traffic laws.

New Vote Fails To Break Seat Deadlock in UN

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—A new round of voting failed today to break the deadlock between the Philippines and Yugoslavia for a seat in the UN Security Council.

With 11 newly admitted members voting, the Philippines at one point received 40 votes to Yugoslavia's 28. But on the next ballot the score was 37-32, and the result remained indecisive.

A TWO-THIRDS majority of those voting in the General Assembly was required to elect.

After five ballots this morning—the 30th to 35th ballots since October—the session adjourned until later in the day to permit delegates to seek a compromise.

The Assembly was scheduled to end its 1955 session tonight. President Jose Maza of Chile said he would keep the delegates in session until the council seat was filled. He pleaded:

"I BEG YOU, gentlemen, both candidates and other delegates, to endeavor in the interim to come to some agreement, for it does not enhance the prestige of the United Nations to continue these ballots indefinitely.'

Young Slayer Dies

Vandergrift, Pa., Dec. 16 (AP)—A loved crazed youth who killed three persons and wounded two others died last night six hours after he was shot down in a gun fight with a posse that hunted him for 16 hours. John Fallone, 17, died at nearby Armstrong County Memorial Hospital where his would-be girl friend, Gladys Smail, 15, lay in critical condition from shots fired into her chest by the berserk boy. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Smail, and her uncle, William Smail, were shot down by Fallone Wednesday night in this rural community.

County Budget

THE INCREASE for supervisors salary brought out protests from several supervisors but the schedule was adopted by a 24 to 3 vote. Supervisor Turck, Howard and Perry (D) all voting against the adoption on the grounds they did not approve the board voting itself an increase in salary. They said they were in favor of the other raises.

Turck (D) said he believed the salary of the elected officials should be by referendum of the people and the other two agreed on that score.

UNDER the salary schedule county employes under 10 years will get 15 days vacation and over 10 years 20 days vacation. An allowance of 12 days a year for sickness, cumulative to 120 days is allowed.

DURING the vote on adoption of the budget Supervisor Turck (D) objected, saying about half the budget was for "other expenses" which were unexplained. Supervisor McHugh (R) replied that a study of the budget would disclose what those items were.

Burton Marshall (D) raised the question of cost of operation of the county farm. The cost is $24,300 and income $3,000. He suggested abandonment of the farm or renting or leasing it to local farmers.

Supervisor Fiore (D) took exception to the county road fund items and said it seemed "silly" to appropriate more money when there was a possibility it would not be needed. He cited last year's unexpended balance.

McHugh said more work was anticipated in 1956 and he said some of the roads were in terrible condition and needed attention.

Fiore said he believed the county should await a report from the bridge and highway experts before money was spent on a road and bridge program. Some of the work done might be a waste of money under the county program unless the report of the experts had been received and considered.

An item of $110,000 in the Machinery fund for "personal services" under maintenance was questioned by the Democrat members. It was explained this item included personal services not only in maintenance of machinery but also operation of machinery.

A communication was received from the Automatic Voting Machine Company stating orders should now be placed for additional machines to take care of anticipated heavier vote next election when a presidential election will be included.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

NATO in Secret Session to Meet World Problems

Paris, Dec. 16 (AP) — Fifteen foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance sought in secret session today to coordinate their policy for dealing with danger spots all over the globe.

Each attended the meeting, which lasted three hours, accompanied by only two top advisers. Spokesmen would only say afterwards that the talk ranged all around the world where ever there were problems directly or indirectly affecting the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

U. S. SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles warned yesterday that Russia has opened two dangerous new fronts in the cold war—the Middle East and southern Asia.

The ministers concentrated their attention on the explosive Middle Eastern situation, especially the effect on other NATO members of Turkish and British participation in the Baghdad pact. Portugal also raised the issue of her dispute with India over the status of Goa.

Some of the time was devoted to economic cooperation among the member nations—a subject which will come up again in plenary session during the afternoon when non-military activities of the alliance will be tackled.

State Votes . . .

project to house people who lost their homes in the floods was approved. It will be financed by a bond issue.

A 14-million-dollar urban redevelopment program was approved, with the state to pay its share of the cost—one-sixth. Towns will pay an equal amount, the federal government the rest.

The state will take 15½ million dollars from the highway fund to pay for half of the reconstruction and relief program. The rest will come from temporary increases in the sales tax, the corporation tax, the cigarette tax, the alcohol tax and the amusement tax.

The highway fund will be paid back by an extension of the gasoline tax.

Bill which didn't get through would have extended rent controls, allowed businessmen and corporations to write off flood losses in taxes, and lightened recent heavy penalties recently enacted for narcotics offenders.

Poultry Platters

Corvallis, Ore. (AP) — For two years Martin Lobby, Corvallis poultryman, treated his flock to radio music to boost egg production. Then the music went bad and egg-laying fell off. Lobby called Robert Brownell, power company service man. He determined that electric tools being used on plumbing repairs at a nearby school was causing interference with the radio waves. He solved the problem neatly and quickly by loaning Lobby his record player until the plumbing repairs could be completed. And the hens began laying again.

State Commission Announces Area Traffic Changes

Joseph P. Kelly, chairman of the New York State Traffic Commission today announced the recent issuance of the following orders by the commission governing vehicular traffic in Ulster and neighboring counties.

At Napanoch the commission issued a permit for the use of portable school signs on Route 209, 300 feet in advance of the Napanoch School to be displayed on days when the school is in session.

In Orange county, Highland Falls, the commission ordered the erection and maintenance of a stop sign on the Highland Falls By-pass at its intersection with Route 218. Also, in the town of Newburgh, speed is restricted to 30 MPH on Brookside avenue between its easterly and westerly intersections with Route 52 for a distance of 0.4 miles. The commission ordered the erection and maintenance of stop signs on Highland avenue and Brookside avenue at their intersections with Route 52 and on Lester road and Chestnut lane at their intersections with Route 9W.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

This is the season of thanksgiving. We, Americans, are old-fashioned enough to thank God for the abundance with which He has blessed us.

Most of the inhabitants of the earth would manifest heartfelt thanks to their gods if they had a fraction of what we have to eat.

Mr. Hutton

Our problem is to reduce our fancied overproduction of farm products. We are geared to export part of our surplus wheat and cotton, but that does not apply to crops held in hock by Government. People here and abroad would consume everything held in storage if it were cheap enough, — if the price were based on supply and demand. Butter is an example. Our people have never had enough, and would eat up the supply, if priced on a free market.

Now, with farm crops resting on political floors, they pass up butter and turn to vegetable fats. Stocks in storage would be quickly consumed if prices were determined by supply and demand.

It may be that our great Master of the Universe will heed our prayers and "give us this day our daily bread" — despite our curious obsession about locking it up in political granaries. Knowing how wrong are these thoughts about destroying food — or storing it until it rots, He will punish our people as they flirt with economical suicide.

The future destiny of this country lies in the old-fashioned law of SUPPLY and DEMAND.

PARENTAL DELINQUENCY

The New York State Temporary Commission on Youth and Delinquency has submitted 34 recommendations and documented them with specific proposals for legislative action. The Commission's program of action to deal with this pressing problem should be of great interest to all residents of the state.

Included in the legislation proposed by the Commission is one dealing wth parental responsibility. It authorizes a written order specifying conduct to be followed by the parent or guardian of a delinquent child. Willful disobedience of such directions would subject parents to a charge of criminal contempt, punishable by a fine of up to $250, thirty days imprisonment, or both.

The significance of parental fault as a circumstance and condition in juvenile delinquency has been stressed frequently in these columns. Moral judgments of children are more closely correlated with those of their parents than with those of anyone else influencing their behavior.

Parental delinquency might sound like a trite statement, but if such a law was enforced there would be fewer children getting off to a very bad start in life.

Specific legislative reforms also mentioned in the report included treatment of adolescent offenders, weapons, employment, compulsory education and prevention of narcotics addiction.

One of the major proposals calls for a permanent new State Youth Commission to supplant the present temporary agency, which expires July 1, 1956, unless legislative action is taken.

The temporary commission, which filed this very important report on a very serious problem, was headed by Thomas J. Watson, Jr., who acted as chairman. One of his colleagues was Senator Arthur H. Wicks. All the members of the temporary commission deserve the thanks of the people of the state.

LOVED AND CHERISHED

If anyone still doubts the central importance, in a child's life, of being loved and cherished, let him consider the case of Pattsy Conlon.

Pattsy, now 12 years old, is the daughter of an Irish jockey who was killed in a fall from a horse several years ago. When that happened, the little girl began to pine away. She showed less interest in life after her mother remarried.

Doctors sent her to a children's home at Broadstairs, England, but she was lonely even among many other children. Then one day Pattsy learned that one of the other girls had a godfather at a hotel in San Francisco, far off in the United States. She wrote to the hotel and asked whether anyone there would be her "fairy godfather."

The response was astonishing—not only several godfathers, but godmothers and godsisters as well, a total of 12. Now Pattsy writes letters every week to her new "family." She is gaining weight, the glow of life is coming back to her cheeks.

Our guess is that Christmas will be a wondrous thing this year at that children's home in England.

SILENT NIGHT, FATAL NIGHT

Christmas is no time for tragedy to visit us on the highways and in the home. But just the same it does—all too frequently.

Last year, in a 54-hour period from the night before Christmas Eve until midnight Christmas night, 515 people were killed in accidents in this country. Most, of course, died in traffic mishaps.

Put together heavy travel, the gay spirit of the holidays, icy or slippery roads and the extra hours of winter darkness and you have the ingredients for this kind of tragedy.

Every year the National Safety Council and others have issued their warnings, but they do not seem to register. But what else can anyone do but warn again:

Be careful — extraordinarily careful. watch road and traffic conditions like a hawk. Don't get carried away by the Christmas spirit or you may not live to enjoy it again.

WHO WANTS TO KNOW

I see by the papers that Sigma Delta Chi, which I am told is a professional journalistic fraternity, will seek $650,000 from a national foundation to study "the performance of daily newspapers in covering news of the 1956 Presidential campaign." It looks to me as though somebody is looking for a job and I recommend that the Fund for the Republic might give him the $650,000 to do with as he likes. After all, that is how the Fund got its money from the Ford Foundation. True, the job could be done for nothing by some scholarly chap looking for a subject for a Ph.D. thesis; it is easy and would cost perhaps $500 for typing. The newspapers could be found in a library.

I could write his report right now without charging anything. Most newspapers will give more space to the Democrats than to the Republicans because the Democratic candidate will be more colorful than the Republican. That is the way it has been for many years. William Jennings Bryan was more colorful than William McKinley. Theodore Roosevelt was a news-worthy fellow but they made a Vice President of him. Few Vice Presidents are worth more than a mention unless they are like Henry Wallace, the Samson of the New Deal.

Neither Bryan nor Wallace was elected to the Presidency but Theodore Roosevelt was, after McKinley was killed, and he made copy in and out of the office because he was an interesting, exciting person.

Surely nobody the Republicans nominated to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt was as exciting as the great New Dealer. Wendell Willkie tried hard but his voice gave out. Besides, Willkie was a synthetic personality, just a country boy surprised by the sounds and sights of the big city. Anyhow, he did not make the Presidency and is practically forgotten except by a cult in New York who get their names in the newspapers once a year when they worship his memory at a banquet.

It has been repeated that Alice Longworth, the most intelligent of living Roosevelts, once said of Thomas E. Dewey, "Who ever saw a souffle rise twice?" I did not verify the remark because it is too good to question. It can apply as well to Adlai Stevenson.

Certainly Mr. Dewey produces little news when he runs for office. On the other hand, Harry Truman can say nothing in the most interesting and news worthy manner. He is either threatening to kick someone in the groin or is calling a man a perfect but unmannerly description. It takes challenging ingenuity to report Truman without going to jail for lascivious language. So Truman always gets a break in the news, even if what he says adds nothing to history, not even to his kind of history.

So in this campaign, that is 1956, should Adlai Stevenson run, his speeches will not be as interesting as in 1952, for two reasons: One, we have heard them; two, one of his more literary ghosts died. If Harriman runs, his speeches will have the interest that he will be attacking the Republicans for what the Democrats initiated. It is a switch that will fascinate, particularly the Taft Republicans. If Eisenhower runs, he will make front pages because he is President of the United States, but his copy will be read with difficulty because his speech-writers are dull boys with never a smart phrase in their souls. Unless William Knowland is the Republican candidate, the same factory will grind out the Republican speeches. Knowland will get a factory of his own.

There is a further point the Sigma Delta Chi investigator might note: Adlai Stevenson made better speeches than Eisenhower did in 1952. Eisenhower was elected. Stevenson got plenty of newspaper space because he was a bit of a shock; but that did not elect him. So one asks, what part do the newspapers play to help the voter make up his mind? Now that would be an interesting psychological and sociological topic for study, because, as of today, nobody knows the answer.

I certainly hope that the guy who wants to handle $650,000 gets a chance at the money. When his name is announced, perhaps we shall give him a little scrutiny to make sure that he is not a Communist who hates elections anyhow. The Fund for the Republic, however, may not be around for the 1956 election.

That Body of Yours

REACTION TO PENICILLIN

With the increased use of penicillin, it has become not unusual to read of a sudden death from its use in a person who was overly sensitive to it. Usually within minutes of the injection, the patient would become clammy, pulseless, with a marked lowering of blood pressure, and unconscious. Unless extreme measures were begun, death would follow. This is in marked contrast to the more common delayed type of reaction which occurs up to three or four weeks following the injection and is of many different types, the commonest being extreme generalized hives, extreme itching, swelling of the extremities, nausea, loss of appetite.

Is there any way in which it can be known in advance whether a patient will have such reactions from penicillin? Many authors have stated that skin tests could determine this fact. Accordingly, we read in the Journal of the American Medical Association of a study of skin tests for penicillin reactions in one thousand cases at the Brooke Army Hospital, Texas. Three types of tests were used: (1) Scratch test—in which the skin is scratched and procaine penicillin in dilution administered to it; (2) Intradermal—in which the penicillin was injected just below the skin surface, and (3) Patch test—in which a small amount is placed on dry clean skin and covered with a patch.

What were the results? Entirely disappointing, in that patients who had been negative on testing, later showed reactions on being given penicillin. In the words of the research workers on this project, "In the 1,000 cases studied, we feel we have proved that testing is not a reliable way to determine penicillin sensitivity. We are of the opinion that other means must be taken to try to protect the patient. With almost all the population today having been exposed to penicillin in some form or other, we can surmise that anyone is subject to reaction, either immediate or delayed."

To safeguard patients, the following points are of value. If there is a history of previous reaction to penicillin, some other anti-biotic should be used, if applicable. A preparation for use by mouth should be used whenever feasible. Care should always be taken if patient has a history of being allergic or sensitive to other substances or foods. Patients should always be watched for at least 20 minutes after an injection. If an immediate reaction occurs, a tourniquet should be applied between the site of the injection (side of arm) and the heart. Small doses of epinephrine should be given at the site of the injection. The patient must have an open airway and sufficient oxygen.

A warning we should all keep in mind is that the antibiotics such as penicillin are not drugs for which we should clamor at the first sign of a cold or other disturbance. They should be used only when the physician feels that they are the "treatment of choice" for our particular ailment.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, has issued new orders that on small flood-control projects, a share of the costs will hereafter be assessed against local beneficiaries.

In the past, Corps of Engineers has borne the whole cost.

The change in policy will be of interest to everyone who wants the government to do something about a crick that goes on a rampage.

The plan follows policy set for the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service under the Hope-Aiken small watershed act of 1954.

It indicates that after years of bureaucratic red tape, the federal government has at last made a small start toward getting a unified water policy.

WHEN THE SECOND Annual Watershed Conference of 25 national conservation organizations met in Washington a few days ago, there was one principal bellyache.

That concerned too much variation in assessing the local cost share.

Downstream city folk got their flood-prevention works from Army Engineers free. Upstream farmers who got their work done by Soil Conservation Service had to pay a share of the costs. And this share varied from 15 to 80 per cent of the total, they complained.

In the backs of their minds, of course, was the idea that the federal government ought to pay all the costs.

It would take an amendment to the Hope-Aiken Act to put this into effect. That isn't likely now. This isn't the philosophy of the Eisenhower administration. It believes in larger local participation for all public works.

THIS IS THE WAY the Hope-Aiken Act works now:

Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service is authorized to receive applications from local watershed organizations for upstream flood control and reservoir development.

SCS surveys the basin. It determines first if benefits would exceed costs. Then it determines how much of the cost can be borne by local beneficiaries. SCS next makes an agreement with them on this basis, if the project is feasible.

SCS then submits a work plan to Congress. If Congress doesn't turn it down in 60 days, the project stands approved. Local authorities can then let contracts, after raising their share of the costs.

To date, 450 of these applications have been received from drainage districts and watershed associations in 42 states. One hundred and twenty-three have been approved. SCS will have 25 work plans ready for submission to Congress in January. Another 25 will be ready before Congress adjourns.

THE RANGE OF LOCAL COST assessment for these 50 projects will run from 30 to 60 per cent. On some particular parts of a watershed development, the local cost share is down to 10 per cent. But the average is close to 50 per cent.

The alternative to the SCS plan is to get Congress to pass a special appropriation to have only two projects where local costs may be assessed. These are the Salt Creek-Wahoo and the Gering-Mitchell development in eastern Nebraska. Local costs on parts of the Salt Creek project have been set at 11 per cent. They're still under negotiation on Gering-Mitchell.

For the future, however, local costs will be assessed on all projects under 5000 acre-feet. A typical reservoir would cover 500 acres—about three-fourths of a square mile—with 10 feet of water. Its costs would be between $250,000 and $500,000.

Estimates have been made that there are some 1600 upstream flood prevention and conservation projects that could be developed. That's a 100-year job. The total cost might be 25 to 30 billion dollars.

This si, of course, prohibitive. But it gives an idea of what's ahead if Congress should decide to go into this thing in a big way, and put the full cost on the good old U. S. taxpayer.

UN Vote on New Members Is Regarded as Morality Blow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 16 — The United Nations has revealed itself as just another "log-rolling" organization, with less regard for principle and morality than for political expediency. It's a blow from which the organization may never recover. For, once respect is lost, it is rarely regained.

The controversy over admitting new members was on the same low plane that one would find in Tammany Hall in New York city or in the "smoke-filled rooms" of political conventions where "deals" and "packages" are manipulated with all the artful barter and selfishness of the market place.

Nationalist China alone, by her veto of Outer Mongolia, stood out as the courageous champion of morality. Yet it is a sign of the decadence of the times that newspaper dispatches are telling already of the intention of some governments to punish the Nationalist government next year and give her seat in the United Nations to unmoral Red China just because the Nationalist delegate didn't bow to expediency.

The day that Red China goes in the UN, the demand for America to step out will be resumed. For it was Red China's murderous commanders who in Korea helped to bring about the death of 33,000 American boys and the wounding of 110,000 others. The same UN, which declared Red China an aggressor now is reported to be ready to take that regime unto its bosom.

BUT THE AMAZING thing is the way that supposed champions of virtue—those who extol the UN as the last word in international morality—are themselves surrendering principle and rejoicing that Soviet Russia did finally condescend to let sixteen members come into the organization. The cry is for "universality" at any cost, as if numbers rather than the qualifications of the members to carry out the obligations of the UN charter were the real criterion of effectiveness.

It was Sir Percy Spender, of Australia, president of the Security Council, who, with starting frankness, said the other day: "It is not principle with which we are concerned here but expediency — the expediency of inexorable political circumstances."

This then is the new doctrine of the UN which in all the schools and colleges of America has heretofore been praised as the paragon of international virtue and as the last great hope of civilization to settle its disputes.

HAVING FAILED to command universal support for armed intervention to repel the aggressor in Korea, the United Nations has since been compelled to rely primarily on moral force. But even his moral force now has deteriorated. For there can be no respect throughout the world for an organization that violates its own principles of law and order. The Court of International Justice, for example, in an advisory opinion sought by the UN itself, ruled in 1948 that "package deals" are illegal and that admission must be on individual merits of the member rather than dependent or conditioned on the acceptance of other members.

All this now has been brushed aside and the new slogan seems to be "numbers for numbers' sake."

Under such circumstances, it is logical for the United States now to ask that all its forty-eight states be admitted to the UN. It would augment the number of members considerably. After all, each of the forty-eight states is "sovereign" and, while the charter uses the term "sovereign equality," there is no inclination today in the UN to examine the qualifications of members too carefully. Also it would solve the controversy here over the Bricker amendment, for if the various subsidiary bodies of the UN are to make treaties or agreements binding this country on certain domestic affairs, at least each of the forty-eight states would have some sort of opportunity to veto such legislation.

IF OUTER MONGOLIA, which was a part of Red China, is to be a member—and Russia now insists that Outer Mongolia must be admitted or else Japan can't be admitted—then it does seem that a case can be made also for British Columbia or Quebec or Ontario, though the British government seems to have fared pretty well in voting strength with such sympathetic partners as Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the Union of South Africa already members of the UN.

Only the United States among the major powers has been left with a single vote. For in due time Soviet Russia will want more of her provinces admitted, just as were the Ukraine and Byelorussia. Some day, if Red China does come into the UN she will demand that Inner Mongolia be accepted to balance Outer Mongolia, and so the game goes—the great hope of mankind for a union of peace-loving organizations with a devotion to idealism, instead of to materialism, has been crushed under an avalanche of brazen "deals" and "packages" set loose by unmoral politicians.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Thanks to Peter J. King, a dealer in watches and jewelry in Monroe, N. C., I am able to present amazing and amusing extracts from the so-called interview of Egbert R. Murrow, the eye-and-ear journalist of television, with Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the mixed-up doubledome who didn't know right from left and thought falsehood and the truth were morally equivalent and interchangeable. This mess of Gullah, like the considered opinions of Justice Felix Frankfurter, reads with equal force and meaning backward, forward and both ways from the middle.

The text of Murrow's white wash interview with Oppenheimer has been available all this time at the office of the Columbia Broadcasting system. As far as I know no journalist ever bethought him to get it, read it and then reveal to the public the actual rubbish which the Ford Fund for the Republic reproduced for free distribution in television form to 100 colleges and "groups." This exploit cost a great deal of money paid by the common man through his income taxes to make up for the Ford Fund's exemption.

Oppenheimer was canned from his status of consultant of the Atomic Energy Commission on the ground that he was admittedly a liar in formal answers to security officers of the atom bomb project, that he married one Communist and slept with another, joined and gave money to Red fronts, and, finally, that he failed to report that a Red spy tried to get knowledge from him for use by Soviet scientists.

Q. (by Murrow)—Why don't we begin by your telling me a little about this Institute for Advanced Study—how it began?

A.—(By Oppenheimer)—Well, I—I will try. Of course it began at the time when I wasn't anywhere near; and it's already a subject for historical research. I—I'm about to find someone to see if he can find out how it began. There are no telephones ringing and you don't have to go to committee meetings and you don't have to meet classes and the—it's especially for the few people who are here for life—it's quite remarkable because most people depend on being interrupted in order to live. The work is so hard and failure is—is of course, I guess, an inevitable condition of success. So they're used to having—to having to go—to attend to other people's business. When they get here, there is nothing of that and they—they can't run away. It's to help men who are creative and deep and active and struggling scholars and scientists to get the job done that it is their destiny to do. This is a big order and we take a corner of it. We do the best we can. We—we can suffer from limits of money, of wisdom of space, and we know that if we get big, we—we will spoil everything. Because the kind of intimacy, the kind of understanding, the kind of comradeship that is possible in a place of this size is hard to maintain in a place ten times as big—."

Q.—Would you—would you tell me something about the permanent members of the staff—the faculty?

A.—Some are pure mathematicians. This was the first and I guess the most illustrious field in which the institute entered, and there's Hassler Whitney, who is a man who spent most of his life at Harvard, an extraordinarily imaginative and creative man, whose field—it won't mean much—whose field is essentially topology.

Q.—What, exactly is that?

A.—Well, it is a study of those relationships which do not have to do with measure and size but with shape and arrangement. Let me digress. We had here this year a Swiss—a French Swiss psychologist He's almost a philosopher, called Ipaget, whose work has been on the way children learn to think—how they learn notions of cause—notions of time—notions of necessity—notions of number—all the things that Kant thought you were born with. Well they know you are not born with them. You learn them and he made one discovery which is not surprising, but a little odd. He found out things which in normal mathematical instructions are the most highbrow, are the things children know first. Children know first whether objects are inside each other or separate—whether they can be deformed into each other and these are the notions that topology deals with. They learn later that the length of a line is so, or that a figure has seven sides and not six—all the things that have to do with number come later, but the things that have to do with relatedness—the fact that a doughtnut can't be turned into a sphere without tearing it—you see. This is the kind of thing a child knows and these—these logical notions, I mentioned only trivial ones—are the basis of topology.

And on and on for ten pages of double-space. For this Aluminum Corporation paid Murrow big money until cigarette smokers began to ask what brands of fags came wrapped in Alcoa foil.

PARENTAL DELINQUENCY

The New York State Temporary Commission on Youth and Delinquency has submitted 34 recommendations and documented them with specific proposals for legislative action. The Commission's program of action to deal with this pressing problem should be of great interest to all residents of the state.

Included in the legislation proposed by the Commission is one dealing wth parental responsibility. It authorizes a written order specifying conduct to be followed by the parent or guardian of a delinquent child. Willful disobedience of such directions would subject parents to a charge of criminal contempt, punishable by a fine of up to $250, thirty days imprisonment, or both.

The significance of parental fault as a circumstance and condition in juvenile delinquency has been stressed frequently in these columns. Moral judgments of children are more closely correlated with those of their parents than with those of anyone else influencing their behavior.

Parental delinquency might sound like a trite statement, but if such a law was enforced there would be fewer children getting off to a very bad start in life.

Specific legislative reforms also mentioned in the report included treatment of adolescent offenders, weapons, employment, compulsory education and prevention of narcotics addiction.

One of the major proposals calls for a permanent new State Youth Commission to supplant the present temporary agency, which expires July 1, 1956, unless legislative action is taken.

The temporary commission, which filed this very important report on a very serious problem, was headed by Thomas J. Watson, Jr., who acted as chairman. One of his colleagues was Senator Arthur H. Wicks. All the members of the temporary commission deserve the thanks of the people of the state.

Neither Bryan nor Wallace was elected to the Presidency but Theodore Roosevelt was, after McKinley was killed, and he made copy in and out of the office because he was an interesting, exciting person.

Surely nobody the Republicans nominated to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt was as exciting as the great New Dealer. Wendell Willkie tried hard but his voice gave out. Besides, Willkie was a synthetic personality, just a country boy surprised by the sounds and sights of the big city. Anyhow, he did not make the Presidency and is practically forgotten except by a cult in New York who get their names in the newspapers once a year when they worship his memory at a banquet.

It has been repeated that Alice Longworth, the most intelligent of living Roosevelts, once said of Thomas E. Dewey, "Who ever saw a souffle rise twice?" I did not verify the remark because it is too good to question. It can apply as well to Adlai Stevenson.

Certainly Mr. Dewey produces little news when he runs for office. On the other hand, Harry Truman can say nothing in the most interesting and news worthy manner. He is either threatening to kick someone in the groin or is calling a man a perfect but unmannerly description. It takes challenging ingenuity to report Truman without going to jail for lascivious language. So Truman always gets a break in the news, even if what he says adds nothing to history, not even to his kind of history.

So in this campaign, that is 1956, should Adlai Stevenson run, his speeches will not be as interesting as in 1952, for two reasons: One, we have heard them; two, one of his more literary ghosts died. If Harriman runs, his speeches will have the interest that he will be attacking the Republicans for what the Democrats initiated. It is a switch that will fascinate, particularly the Taft Republicans. If Eisenhower runs, he will make front pages because he is President of the United States, but his copy will be read with difficulty because his speech-writers are dull boys with never a smart phrase in their souls. Unless William Knowland is the Republican candidate, the same factory will grind out the Republican speeches. Knowland will get a factory of his own.

There is a further point the Sigma Delta Chi investigator might note: Adlai Stevenson made better speeches than Eisenhower did in 1952. Eisenhower was elected. Stevenson got plenty of newspaper space because he was a bit of a shock; but that did not elect him. So one asks, what part do the newspapers play to help the voter make up his mind? Now that would be an interesting psychological and sociological topic for study, because, as of today, nobody knows the answer.

I certainly hope that the guy who wants to handle $650,000 gets a chance at the money. When his name is announced, perhaps we shall give him a little scrutiny to make sure that he is not a Communist who hates elections anyhow. The Fund for the Republic, however, may not be around for the 1956 election.

That Body of Yours

REACTION TO PENICILLIN

With the increased use of penicillin, it has become not unusual to read of a sudden death from its use in a person who was overly sensitive to it. Usually within minutes of the injection, the patient would become clammy, pulseless, with a marked lowering of blood pressure, and unconscious. Unless extreme measures were begun, death would follow. This is in marked contrast to the more common delayed type of reaction which occurs up to three or four weeks following the injection and is of many different types, the commonest being extreme generalized hives, extreme itching, swelling of the extremities, nausea, loss of appetite.

Is there any way in which it can be known in advance whether a patient will have such reactions from penicillin? Many authors have stated that skin tests could determine this fact. Accordingly, we read in the Journal of the American Medical Association of a study of skin tests for penicillin reactions in one thousand cases at the Brooke Army Hospital, Texas. Three types of tests were used: (1) Scratch test—in which the skin is scratched and procaine penicillin in dilution administered to it; (2) Intradermal—in which the penicillin was injected just below the skin surface, and (3) Patch test—in which a small amount is placed on dry clean skin and covered with a patch.

What were the results? Entirely disappointing, in that patients who had been negative on testing, later showed reactions on being given penicillin. In the words of the research workers on this project, "In the 1,000 cases studied, we feel we have proved that testing is not a reliable way to determine penicillin sensitivity. We are of the opinion that other means must be taken to try to protect the patient. With almost all the population today having been exposed to penicillin in some form or other, we can surmise that anyone is subject to reaction, either immediate or delayed."

To safeguard patients, the following points are of value. If there is a history of previous reaction to penicillin, some other anti-biotic should be used, if applicable. A preparation for use by mouth should be used whenever feasible. Care should always be taken if patient has a history of being allergic or sensitive to other substances or foods. Patients should always be watched for at least 20 minutes after an injection. If an immediate reaction occurs, a tourniquet should be applied between the site of the injection (side of arm) and the heart. Small doses of epinephrine should be given at the site of the injection. The patient must have an open airway and sufficient oxygen.

A warning we should all keep in mind is that the antibiotics such as penicillin are not drugs for which we should clamor at the first sign of a cold or other disturbance. They should be used only when the physician feels that they are the "treatment of choice" for our particular ailment.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, has issued new orders that on small flood-control projects, a share of the costs will hereafter be assessed against local beneficiaries.

In the past, Corps of Engineers has borne the whole cost.

The change in policy will be of interest to everyone who wants the government to do something about a crick that goes on a rampage.

The plan follows policy set for the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service under the Hope-Aiken small watershed act of 1954.

It indicates that after years of bureaucratic red tape, the federal government has at last made a small start toward getting a unified water policy.

WHEN THE SECOND Annual Watershed Conference of 25 national conservation organizations met in Washington a few days ago, there was one principal bellyache.

That concerned too much variation in assessing the local cost share.

Downstream city folk got their flood-prevention works from Army Engineers free. Upstream farmers who got their work done by Soil Conservation Service had to pay a share of the costs. And this share varied from 15 to 80 per cent of the total, they complained.

In the backs of their minds, of course, was the idea that the federal government ought to pay all the costs.

It would take an amendment to the Hope-Aiken Act to put this into effect. That isn't likely now. This isn't the philosophy of the Eisenhower administration. It believes in larger local participation for all public works.

THIS IS THE WAY the Hope-Aiken Act works now:

Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service is authorized to receive applications from local watershed organizations for upstream flood control and reservoir development.

SCS surveys the basin. It determines first if benefits would exceed costs. Then it determines how much of the cost can be borne by local beneficiaries. SCS next makes an agreement with them on this basis, if the project is feasible.

SCS then submits a work plan to Congress. If Congress doesn't turn it down in 60 days, the project stands approved. Local authorities can then let contracts, after raising their share of the costs.

To date, 450 of these applications have been received from drainage districts and watershed associations in 42 states. One hundred and twenty-three have been approved. SCS will have 25 work plans ready for submission to Congress in January. Another 25 will be ready before Congress adjourns.

THE RANGE OF LOCAL COST assessment for these 50 projects will run from 30 to 60 per cent. On some particular parts of a watershed development, the local cost share is down to 10 per cent. But the average is close to 50 per cent.

The alternative to the SCS plan is to get Congress to pass a special appropriation to have only two projects where local costs may be assessed. These are the Salt Creek-Wahoo and the Gering-Mitchell development in eastern Nebraska. Local costs on parts of the Salt Creek project have been set at 11 per cent. They're still under negotiation on Gering-Mitchell.

For the future, however, local costs will be assessed on all projects under 5000 acre-feet. A typical reservoir would cover 500 acres—about three-fourths of a square mile—with 10 feet of water. Its costs would be between $250,000 and $500,000.

Estimates have been made that there are some 1600 upstream flood prevention and conservation projects that could be developed. That's a 100-year job. The total cost might be 25 to 30 billion dollars.

This si, of course, prohibitive. But it gives an idea of what's ahead if Congress should decide to go into this thing in a big way, and put the full cost on the good old U. S. taxpayer.

UN Vote on New Members Is Regarded as Morality Blow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 16 — The United Nations has revealed itself as just another "log-rolling" organization, with less regard for principle and morality than for political expediency. It's a blow from which the organization may never recover. For, once respect is lost, it is rarely regained.

The controversy over admitting new members was on the same low plane that one would find in Tammany Hall in New York city or in the "smoke-filled rooms" of political conventions where "deals" and "packages" are manipulated with all the artful barter and selfishness of the market place.

Nationalist China alone, by her veto of Outer Mongolia, stood out as the courageous champion of morality. Yet it is a sign of the decadence of the times that newspaper dispatches are telling already of the intention of some governments to punish the Nationalist government next year and give her seat in the United Nations to unmoral Red China just because the Nationalist delegate didn't bow to expediency.

The day that Red China goes in the UN, the demand for America to step out will be resumed. For it was Red China's murderous commanders who in Korea helped to bring about the death of 33,000 American boys and the wounding of 110,000 others. The same UN, which declared Red China an aggressor now is reported to be ready to take that regime unto its bosom.

BUT THE AMAZING thing is the way that supposed champions of virtue—those who extol the UN as the last word in international morality—are themselves surrendering principle and rejoicing that Soviet Russia did finally condescend to let sixteen members come into the organization. The cry is for "universality" at any cost, as if numbers rather than the qualifications of the members to carry out the obligations of the UN charter were the real criterion of effectiveness.

It was Sir Percy Spender, of Australia, president of the Security Council, who, with starting frankness, said the other day: "It is not principle with which we are concerned here but expediency — the expediency of inexorable political circumstances."

This then is the new doctrine of the UN which in all the schools and colleges of America has heretofore been praised as the paragon of international virtue and as the last great hope of civilization to settle its disputes.

HAVING FAILED to command universal support for armed intervention to repel the aggressor in Korea, the United Nations has since been compelled to rely primarily on moral force. But even his moral force now has deteriorated. For there can be no respect throughout the world for an organization that violates its own principles of law and order. The Court of International Justice, for example, in an advisory opinion sought by the UN itself, ruled in 1948 that "package deals" are illegal and that admission must be on individual merits of the member rather than dependent or conditioned on the acceptance of other members.

All this now has been brushed aside and the new slogan seems to be "numbers for numbers' sake."

Under such circumstances, it is logical for the United States now to ask that all its forty-eight states be admitted to the UN. It would augment the number of members considerably. After all, each of the forty-eight states is "sovereign" and, while the charter uses the term "sovereign equality," there is no inclination today in the UN to examine the qualifications of members too carefully. Also it would solve the controversy here over the Bricker amendment, for if the various subsidiary bodies of the UN are to make treaties or agreements binding this country on certain domestic affairs, at least each of the forty-eight states would have some sort of opportunity to veto such legislation.

IF OUTER MONGOLIA, which was a part of Red China, is to be a member—and Russia now insists that Outer Mongolia must be admitted or else Japan can't be admitted—then it does seem that a case can be made also for British Columbia or Quebec or Ontario, though the British government seems to have fared pretty well in voting strength with such sympathetic partners as Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the Union of South Africa already members of the UN.

Only the United States among the major powers has been left with a single vote. For in due time Soviet Russia will want more of her provinces admitted, just as were the Ukraine and Byelorussia. Some day, if Red China does come into the UN she will demand that Inner Mongolia be accepted to balance Outer Mongolia, and so the game goes—the great hope of mankind for a union of peace-loving organizations with a devotion to idealism, instead of to materialism, has been crushed under an avalanche of brazen "deals" and "packages" set loose by unmoral politicians.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Thanks to Peter J. King, a dealer in watches and jewelry in Monroe, N. C., I am able to present amazing and amusing extracts from the so-called interview of Egbert R. Murrow, the eye-and-ear journalist of television, with Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the mixed-up doubledome who didn't know right from left and thought falsehood and the truth were morally equivalent and interchangeable. This mess of Gullah, like the considered opinions of Justice Felix Frankfurter, reads with equal force and meaning backward, forward and both ways from the middle.

The text of Murrow's white wash interview with Oppenheimer has been available all this time at the office of the Columbia Broadcasting system. As far as I know no journalist ever bethought him to get it, read it and then reveal to the public the actual rubbish which the Ford Fund for the Republic reproduced for free distribution in television form to 100 colleges and "groups." This exploit cost a great deal of money paid by the common man through his income taxes to make up for the Ford Fund's exemption.

Oppenheimer was canned from his status of consultant of the Atomic Energy Commission on the ground that he was admittedly a liar in formal answers to security officers of the atom bomb project, that he married one Communist and slept with another, joined and gave money to Red fronts, and, finally, that he failed to report that a Red spy tried to get knowledge from him for use by Soviet scientists.

Q. (by Murrow)—Why don't we begin by your telling me a little about this Institute for Advanced Study—how it began?

A.—(By Oppenheimer)—Well, I—I will try. Of course it began at the time when I wasn't anywhere near; and it's already a subject for historical research. I—I'm about to find someone to see if he can find out how it began. There are no telephones ringing and you don't have to go to committee meetings and you don't have to meet classes and the—it's especially for the few people who are here for life—it's quite remarkable because most people depend on being interrupted in order to live. The work is so hard and failure is—is of course, I guess, an inevitable condition of success. So they're used to having—to having to go—to attend to other people's business. When they get here, there is nothing of that and they—they can't run away. It's to help men who are creative and deep and active and struggling scholars and scientists to get the job done that it is their destiny to do. This is a big order and we take a corner of it. We do the best we can. We—we can suffer from limits of money, of wisdom of space, and we know that if we get big, we—we will spoil everything. Because the kind of intimacy, the kind of understanding, the kind of comradeship that is possible in a place of this size is hard to maintain in a place ten times as big—."

Q.—Would you—would you tell me something about the permanent members of the staff—the faculty?

A.—Some are pure mathematicians. This was the first and I guess the most illustrious field in which the institute entered, and there's Hassler Whitney, who is a man who spent most of his life at Harvard, an extraordinarily imaginative and creative man, whose field—it won't mean much—whose field is essentially topology.

Q.—What, exactly is that?

A.—Well, it is a study of those relationships which do not have to do with measure and size but with shape and arrangement. Let me digress. We had here this year a Swiss—a French Swiss psychologist He's almost a philosopher, called Ipaget, whose work has been on the way children learn to think—how they learn notions of cause—notions of time—notions of necessity—notions of number—all the things that Kant thought you were born with. Well they know you are not born with them. You learn them and he made one discovery which is not surprising, but a little odd. He found out things which in normal mathematical instructions are the most highbrow, are the things children know first. Children know first whether objects are inside each other or separate—whether they can be deformed into each other and these are the notions that topology deals with. They learn later that the length of a line is so, or that a figure has seven sides and not six—all the things that have to do with number come later, but the things that have to do with relatedness—the fact that a doughtnut can't be turned into a sphere without tearing it—you see. This is the kind of thing a child knows and these—these logical notions, I mentioned only trivial ones—are the basis of topology.

And on and on for ten pages of double-space. For this Aluminum Corporation paid Murrow big money until cigarette smokers began to ask what brands of fags came wrapped in Alcoa foil.

Dewey Insists He Is Without Political Aims

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey met last night with seven state Republican leaders. He insisted, however, that he has no political aspirations and a spokesman for the party leaders said the meeting was "strictly social."

"There is no news tonight. I have nothing to say," Dewey told newsmen.

William Mackenzie of Belmont, N. Y., chairman of the State Assembly Ways and Means Committee, said of Dewey, "in my book he can have any political job he aspires to."

"I DON'T WANT any, now or any time," Dewey, twice Republican presidential candidate, replied. "I am completely happy."

Dewey is practicing law here.

Upon leaving office in Albany last December, Dewey said he did not intend to enter politics again. He did not stand for reelection after three consecutive terms as a New York governor. The meeting with state Republican leaders yesterday was Dewey's first since he left office.

WAF Recruit May Join Now, Report After Holidays

Sgt. Dorothy Onward, WAF representative for this area announced through the local Air Force recruiting station, 259 Fair street that girls desiring to join the WAF may enlist in December but remain home with their friends and family until Jan. 3. Sgt. Onward made this arrangement because no one wants to leave home before the holidays. The Air Force has allowed this Christmas present of time off. Actually the girl becomes a member of the WAF and then returns home until January. This time is not taken from her yearly 30 day leave time.

Frequently at the start of a New Year, vacancies are limited and any young lady even remotely considering the Air Force is advised to contact Sgt. Snyder at the above address or telephone. If out of town, collect calls will be accepted. Sgt. Synder will then arrange with the WAF representative for further information and assistance.

College graduates are again reminded of the opportunity to apply for officer candidate training. New commissioned officers gain ability in leadership while earning salaries equivalent to persons in executive capacities. An application does not constitute an obligation to accept appointment.

Rolling Acres Will Have Grand OpeningSaturday

A newly renovated and redecorated Rolling Acres, located on the Glenford-Woodstock road on Ohayo Mountain overlooking Ashokan Reservoir will have its grand opening Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lalima, who purchased Rolling Acres in September from Joseph Galbo of Glenford, have redecorated the structure inside and out.

The exterior has been painted red. There are two dining rooms—the formal, or main dining room on the upstairs level, and the sporting room downstairs known as The Den. Then Den caters to wild life and sporting motifs.

The main dining room has been repainted a coral rose and The Den a chestnut color. Large picture windows in each dining room open up extensive and magnificent views. Each table is lamp-lit. The bar and lounge has indirect lighting.

Mr. Lalima said the restaurant would offer a large and varied menu. Parking facilities are available.

Reservations can be made for small groups, wedding and anniversary parties, etc.

Hero Gets Break

PLATTEKILL NEWS

Plattekill, Dec. 15—The regular meeting of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Plattekill will be omitted during December. A card party was held instead. The regular meetings will be resumed in January, 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Benedict and daughter of Leptondale and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cook and daughter, Joan, were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Pressler.

The driveways surrounding the Plattekill school have been widened and improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanderbush and family of Oakland, N. J. were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Becker and family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Juckett of New Paltz and H. Waller of Newburgh, a former resident, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernard B. Wager on Sunday.

Mrs. John Odell and Mrs. Kenneth Paltridge have been employed in Newburgh during the past weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Park of Pennsylvania have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barrowman of the Forest road section.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vega of Villa Victoria, Route 32, made a trip to Spain, by plane, recently.

Mrs. George Sisti Sr. underwent surgery at a New York hospital recently and is convalescing satisfactorily at this time.

Local members of the Republican Club of the town of Plattekill attended the regular meeting held Thursday evening at the Hasbrouck Memorial hall in Modena.

Edward Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Birdsall were among local people attending the card and game party held recently at the Hasbrouck Memorial hall in Modena and sponsored by the Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Plattekill.

Local students attending the Wallkill Central School whose names appeared on the honor roll at the present marking were Ann Langlitz, Gayle Wager, Norma Benedict, Patricia Ettell, Margaret Kopaskie, Danny Feldt and Dorinda Upright.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Diaz and son Richard moved from their former home in Brooklyn to the Oliver home near Ardonia.

Paula Orlowski and Nancy Ingoglia have joined the Sacred Heart Girl Scout Club at Newburgh.

The regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange was held Saturday evening at the hall. The theme of the program was "Grange Founders Night."

Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti Jr., and family were recent visitors of relatives in Albany.

Local students attending the Wallkill Central School and other schools in the district will commence their holiday vacation on Wednesday, Dec. 21. School reopens Tuesday Jan. 3.

The annual Christmas party for members of the Plattekill Grange and their families will be held at the hall Tuesday, Dec. 27, at 8 p. m.

Highly-salted foods, if left standing too long in aluminum pots and pans, can cause the insides to pit, and make them difficult to clean.

Dewey Insists He Is Without Political Aims

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey met last night with seven state Republican leaders. He insisted, however, that he has no political aspirations and a spokesman for the party leaders said the meeting was "strictly social."

"There is no news tonight. I have nothing to say," Dewey told newsmen.

William Mackenzie of Belmont, N. Y., chairman of the State Assembly Ways and Means Committee, said of Dewey, "in my book he can have any political job he aspires to."

"I DON'T WANT any, now or any time," Dewey, twice Republican presidential candidate, replied. "I am completely happy."

Dewey is practicing law here.

Upon leaving office in Albany last December, Dewey said he did not intend to enter politics again. He did not stand for re-election after three consecutive terms as a New York governor. The meeting with state Republican leaders yesterday was Dewey's first since he left office.

WAF Recruit May Join Now, Report After Holidays

Sgt. Dorothy Onward, WAF representative for this area announced through the local Air Force recruiting station, 259 Fair street that girls desiring to join the WAF may enlist in December but remain home with their friends and family until Jan. 3. Sgt. Onward made this arrangement because no one wants to leave home before the holidays. The Air Force has allowed this Christmas present of time off. Actually the girl becomes a member of the WAF and then returns home until January. This time is not taken from her yearly 30 day leave time.

Frequently at the start of a New Year, vacancies are limited and any young lady even remotely considering the Air Force is advised to contact Sgt. Snyder at the above address or telephone. If out of town, collect calls will be accepted. Sgt. Synder will then arrange with the WAF representative for further information and assistance.

College graduates are again reminded of the opportunity to apply for officer candidate training. New commissioned officers gain ability in leadership while earning salaries equivalent to persons in executive capacities. An application does not constitute an obligation to accept appointment.

Rolling Acres Will Have Grand OpeningSaturday

A newly renovated and redecorated Rolling Acres, located on the Glenford-Woodstock road on Ohayo Mountain overlooking Ashokan Reservoir will have its grand opening Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lalima, who purchased Rolling Acres in September from Joseph Galbo of Glenford, have redecorated the structure inside and out.

The exterior has been painted red. There are two dining rooms—the formal, or main dining room on the upstairs level, and the sporting room downstairs known as The Den. Then Den caters to wild life and sporting motifs.

The main dining room has been repainted a coral rose and The Den a chestnut color. Large picture windows in each dining room open up extensive and magnificent views. Each table is lamp-lit. The bar and lounge has indirect lighting.

Mr. Lalima said the restaurant would offer a large and varied menu. Parking facilities are available.

Reservations can be made for small groups, wedding and anniversary parties, etc.

Hero Gets Break

Snyder Is Named New AF Recruiter

A new United States Air Force recruiter has been assigned to the local Air Force recruiting station. Staff Sergeant Larry Snyder has taken over the local air force recruiting station replacing T/Sgt. John J. Norton, who is from Kingston and has been moved to a higher position in the USAF Recruiting Service in Albany.

S/Sgt. Snyder has been assigned to the Poughkeepsie area before coming to Kingston for the last year and a half. Sgt. Snyder will reside with his wife, Janet, and daughter and two sons at Trailer Haven on Albany avenue. Sgt. Snyder comes from Toledo, O., and has been in the U. S. Air Force for eight years.

SGT. SNYDER entered the Air Force in September, 1947 and has been assigned to Panama, Albrook Air Force Base and on one of the most important assignments in the Air Force today which was at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida which is the Air Force Guided Missile Test Center.

Sgt. Snyder announced today that the U. S. Air Force office will remain open every day except Saturday and Sunday 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Saturdays 8 a. m. to 12 noon. Also by appointments.

SGT. SNYDER said today that all young men enlisting before December 16 can choose their basic training site. Sgt. Snyder said that they can choose between Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y. and Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Due to all the controversy over Sampson Air Force Base in Geneva, more news will be released at a later date as to where the applicants for the Air Force will go next month. Sgt Snyder also said that all the young men who are planning on entering the Air Force in January can also apply now.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Angels Herald Christmas Season

Woodstock, Dec. 16—Two bigger-than-life angels have come to Woodstock for Christmas with obvious preference for artists and craftsmen. For Celeste, a veteran of five years, guards the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, and a newer, as yet unnamed angel makes her debut on the Woodstock Art Gallery. How came these angels?

The idea for an angel as a Christmas symbol for The Guild originated with Mrs. Walter Wely. Mari Bollman adapted the design, inspired by a European model. Konrad Cramer devised the method of making and dressing the angel in metal, even to her accordion pleated skirt.

In 1951, her first appearnce, Celeste won first prize in the shop Christmas decoration contest. Since then, she has come each year with only a bit of mending and a few coats of shellac to preserve her spirits, and through these years she has been escorted to her pedestal by such gentlemen as John McClellan, Richard Chambers and Fred Tripicco. No one knows who named this angel but the story is that a local newspaper reporter jokingly referred to her as Celeste and the name stuck.

The Art Gallery angel is the work of Howard Mandel and is made of papier mache. She was originally created for the Artist's Ball in 1953, for a scene, "A Night in Venice," depicting St. Mark's Square.

The angels by Marianne Mecklem, who for years have been greeting the traveler to Woodstock at the bridge crossing, may not arrive in time for Christmas this year, but farther down on Route 212, Edward Chavez' angel blowing a trumpet on the weathervane of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church watches over the village the whole year through.

The angel situation was checked with John Pike, putting the final touches to his seven-foot aluminum flashing cross-star for the Christmas eve celebration on the green. He knew of no other man-made angels for public decoration, but agreed that the township of Woodstock was full of the human kind.

Jewish Sunday School Plans Chanukah Party

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — The Woodstock Jewish Sunday school class is busily planning a Chanukah celebration party to be held Saturday the final day of the traditional eight-day Jewish Festival of Lights.

All are invited to the party which will take place from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Kermit Schwarz guest cottage on Boggs Hill where the Sunday school has been held since its inception a few weeks ago. Besides the use of the cottage, Mr .and Mrs. Schwarz are donating candy, cake, ice cream and gifts for the party and coffee and cake will be served to adults.

Mrs. Ines Finkel, teacher of the class, Mrs. Vivian Moskowitz and Miss Merrie Kramer are serving as the decorations committee. The children of the class have made many decorations which will adorn the cottage.

Mrs. Finkel will lead the children in lighting of the menorahs, games, grab bag prizes, dances and songs, with the assistance of Merrie Kramer at the piano. Merrie, 12 and a half, has been helping Mrs. Finkel with the classes, providing the music and assisting with the children.

Mrs. Lucille Kalish, who gave a great deal of assistance when the class was first started, has been ill and is convalescing now at home after a bout with pneumonia at the hospital in Kingston.

Report 464 Big Game Licenses Sold to Date

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The latest report on the sale of big game licenses from the Town Clerk's office on Wednesday, Dec. 13, is 464 resident big game licenses were sold. There were 15 non-resident and 21 archery licenses also sold. This represents an increase of 52 over those sold in 1954. The combination hunting and fishing licenses will be on sale at the Town Clerk's office and the Woodstock Sport Shop on or after January 1.

Fireman's Banquet

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The annual banquet of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 will be held Monday, Feb. 6, at the Irvington Inn in Woodstock. The committee for the dinner includes: Chester Wolven and Wayne Underhill. A roast beef dinner will be served.

Pepers Win Three

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — Peper's Garage won all three games bowling with Bosco's Tuesday night in the Saugerties A League. Pepers scored 889-800-935 and Boscos scored 781-771-904.

Individual scores for Pepers were: J. Holdridge Jr. 160-164-158; O. Morrell 180-181-173; K. Harder 138-142-166; V. Busch 182-162-187; C. Harder 195-122-222. Individual scores for Boscos were: Mickle 178-163-170; Blind 150-150-150; Meyer 145-169-190; Grawehr 142-155-193; Maines 166-134-201.

Helen Gerardia Has Three Oils Exhibited

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — Helen Gerardia, Woodstock artist, is showing three oils in the League of Present Day Artists 15th Annual Exhibition of paintings and sculpture which opened Dec. 11 and will be on view until January 8 at the Riverside Museum, 310 Riverside drive at 103rd street, New York. Miss Gerardia is also chairman of the League of Present Day Artists which is presenting a concert by the Inter-Arts Committee, Sunday, Dec. 18 at 3 p. m. at the Riverside Museum.

Santa to Visit

Woodstock, Dec. 16. — The Woodstock Community Christmas Eve Committee would like to remind residents that if they know of any children who are confined to their homes and unable to attend the Christmas eve celebration, a telephone call to Santa Claus will bring him to visit them on Christmas morning.

Exclusive Example

Bacon's Castle, near Smithfield, Virginia, is said to be the only true example of Jacobean architecture in America. It was built in 1655.

Snyder will reside with his wife, Janet, and daughter and two sons at Trailer Haven on Albany avenue. Sgt. Snyder comes from Toledo, O., and has been in the U. S. Air Force for eight years.

SGT. SNYDER entered the Air Force in September, 1947 and has been assigned to Panama, Albrook Air Force Base and on one of the most important assignments in the Air Force today which was at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida which is the Air Force Guided Missile Test Center.

Sgt. Snyder announced today that the U. S. Air Force office will remain open every day except Saturday and Sunday 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Saturdays 8 a. m. to 12 noon. Also by appointments.

SGT. SNYDER said today that all young men enlisting before December 16 can choose their basic training site. Sgt. Snyder said that they can choose between Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y. and Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Due to all the controversy over Sampson Air Force Base in Geneva, more news will be released at a later date as to where the applicants for the Air Force will go next month. Sgt Snyder also said that all the young men who are planning on entering the Air Force in January can also apply now.

Angels Herald Christmas Season

Woodstock, Dec. 16—Two bigger-than-life angels have come to Woodstock for Christmas with obvious preference for artists and craftsmen. For Celeste, a veteran of five years, guards the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, and a newer, as yet unnamed angel makes her debut on the Woodstock Art Gallery. How came these angels?

The idea for an angel as a Christmas symbol for The Guild originated with Mrs. Walter Wely. Mari Bollman adapted the design, inspired by a European model. Konrad Cramer devised the method of making and dressing the angel in metal, even to her accordion pleated skirt.

In 1951, her first appearnce, Celeste won first prize in the shop Christmas decoration contest. Since then, she has come each year with only a bit of mending and a few coats of shellac to preserve her spirits, and through these years she has been escorted to her pedestal by such gentlemen as John McClellan, Richard Chambers and Fred Tripicco. No one knows who named this angel but the story is that a local newspaper reporter jokingly referred to her as Celeste and the name stuck.

The Art Gallery angel is the work of Howard Mandel and is made of papier mache. She was originally created for the Artist's Ball in 1953, for a scene, "A Night in Venice," depicting St. Mark's Square.

The angels by Marianne Mecklem, who for years have been greeting the traveler to Woodstock at the bridge crossing, may not arrive in time for Christmas this year, but farther down on Route 212, Edward Chavez' angel blowing a trumpet on the weathervane of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church watches over the village the whole year through.

The angel situation was checked with John Pike, putting the final touches to his seven-foot aluminum flashing cross-star for the Christmas eve celebration on the green. He knew of no other man-made angels for public decoration, but agreed that the township of Woodstock was full of the human kind.

Jewish Sunday School Plans Chanukah Party

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — The Woodstock Jewish Sunday school class is busily planning a Chanukah celebration party to be held Saturday the final day of the traditional eight-day Jewish Festival of Lights.

All are invited to the party which will take place from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Kermit Schwarz guest cottage on Boggs Hill where the Sunday school has been held since its inception a few weeks ago. Besides the use of the cottage, Mr .and Mrs. Schwarz are donating candy, cake, ice cream and gifts for the party and coffee and cake will be served to adults.

Mrs. Ines Finkel, teacher of the class, Mrs. Vivian Moskowitz and Miss Merrie Kramer are serving as the decorations committee. The children of the class have made many decorations which will adorn the cottage.

Mrs. Finkel will lead the children in lighting of the menorahs, games, grab bag prizes, dances and songs, with the assistance of Merrie Kramer at the piano. Merrie, 12 and a half, has been helping Mrs. Finkel with the classes, providing the music and assisting with the children.

Mrs. Lucille Kalish, who gave a great deal of assistance when the class was first started, has been ill and is convalescing now at home after a bout with pneumonia at the hospital in Kingston.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Discusses City and Town Taxes

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16—I am much concerned by the continued uptrend in municipal and town taxes. In 1955, the "tax bite" of cities in the United States will amount to over $65 per person, compared with $61 in 1953 and $56 in 1952. I am especially disappointed with the very little attention which the Conference on Education, recently held here, gave to this important subject.

A STUDY COVERING 481 U. S. cities with populations of 25,000 or more shows that local taxes accounted for about one-half of total municipal revenues from all sources, including federal and state grants for education, roadbuilding, and other purposes. The rapid rate at which these taxes have been increasing in recent years points up the fact that municipal debts are also growing larger.

In fact, city debts increased 7 per cent during 1954 to a record level of $12,200,000,000 for cities of over 25,000 population. As a result, the average debt per capita in these cities in $196. In New York City the per-capita debt was over $600 per person, and is still rising! I predict a further boost in city and town taxes and debts in 1956.

Obviously, city debts are rising faster than city tax rates, even though the latter are becoming more and more burdensome, especially to owners of real estate. Why should city debt be rising so fast at this point in our history when general business is at record high levels? Of course, costs of city services are up all along the line, but that is only part of the story. Raw material and labor costs also adversely affect manufacturers of many products, but the prices of those products have not soared as much as city taxes.

In some cases, the city tax load has been permitted to become burdensome because of poor municipal management or downright mismanagement. There are many localities where money goes down the drain because accounting, purchasing, and other procedures need tightening, but even those loose policies do not fully explain our plight.

OF COURSE, our cities and towns are overspending. Municipal, county and state governments all over the country are living well beyond their means. In many cases, they are forced to do so because of heavy popular demand for luxuries in the form of ornate school buildings, careless road planning with little thought of future needs, expensive recreational services and equipment.

When I was a boy, cities were expected to provide fire and police protection, water and sewage systems. also good schools. Now the people are demanding many additional services, often of no real value, and all of them very costly. I believe in parking lots for their cars! but not buildings, miscalled "schools," for mothers to park their children. It is ironical that cities along the seacoast in New England have built municipal swimming pools for children and adults! We provide busses to take the children to school and then build gymnasiums to exercise they when they arrive. I walked four miles each day for ten years to get an education, and am still alive!

WE ARE NOW AT PEACE, even though the world is troubled. We are prospering as no other people have prospered before. But I believe that bad times will come again. We shall again be called upon to make sacrifices to preserve our political and economic freedom, as these are threatened by war or depression. These sacrifices will be easier to make, and our efforts will be more effective, if we now pay closer attention to tax and debt policies and to efficient government.

The menace to our economy and to our way of life from political extravagance at all levels is a very real one. We must learn again that thrift is the mainstay of any government and of any individual. If voters persist in their demands for luxuries to be provided by city, state, and town governments, and continue piling up debt, we will some day force the breakdown of democracy in America.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 16, 1955.

Expect GI Loans Will Stay at Present Level

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Veterans Administration (VA) officials today optimistically forecast that the GI home loan guaranty business will continue at a near record level of 650,000 applications in 1956.

They drew that picture despite administration moves in some fields to tighten credit but with encouragement from a slight easing this week in the federal home loan bank's limitations on loans to savings and loan associations.

LAST JULY WHAT are described as "moderate" restrictions were placed on both VA and Federal Housing Administration (FHA) housing credit. There are indications these may soon to be modified, too, by again allowing 30-year maturity loans. The maximum term of such loans was cut to 25 years on July 30.

But there has been no indication of any easing in the federal reserve rediscount rate, which has been boosted four times this year until at 2½ per cent it is at the highest level in 20 years.

Thomas J. Sweeney, director of VA's loan guaranty service, said VA is expecting some 650,000 GI home loan applications next year. Such applications are filed after a private lender has entered into a commitment to make a loan with VA guaranty of a portion.

SUCH A VOLUME in 1956 would equal the record 650,000 estimated for this full year. It would compare with a previous top of 630,000 in 1950 and 528,000 in 1954.

VA's home loan guaranty business began booming in April 1954 after several lean years and has been operating at a record rate all this year.

Officials who discussed the situation with a reporter said much of the increase resulted from a May 1953 ruling raising from 4 to 4½ per cent the maximum permissible interest rate on GI loans.

They conceded the increase has meant that some 950,000 veterans have committed themselves to pay as much as $551 million dollars more in increased interest costs than if the rate had been 4 per cent, but said that without it few loans—or houses—would have been available to veterans.

VA STATISTICS showed that under the old maximum limit of 4 per cent the number of applications for home loan guaranty reached 34,000 in only one month between April 1951 and April 1954. The full effect of the 4½ per cent maximum limit was not reflected until early 1954.

Starting at 34,103 applications in April 1954, the monthly totals jumped to 41,916 in May 1954 and to 59,470 in August that year. They have not dropped below 51,000 in 16 months and reached 66,305 in August this year.

Since the maximum interest rate was hiked, the average loan has been $10,600, with a maturity of 25 years.

However, the officials estimated only an actual 12-year life for the average loan because of prepayments, sales of homes or other reasons for prior settlement.

ON THE BASIS of a $10,600 loan running for 12 years, the additional interest cost because of the 1953 rate increase would amount to $579 per loan or $551,050,000 for 950,000 loans.

Should the average loan run the full 25-year-average maturity, the increased interest cost would be $891 per loan or something like $846,450,000.

The officials said in a statement that any comparisons in the interest costs before and after the increase "are somewhat hypothetical, since the continuation of a 4 per cent rate on GI loans would probably have meant that the majority of veterans who subsequently obtained 4½ per cent GI loans would not have obtained GI financing at all."

They noted that the GI loan interest rate of 4½ per cent had been at least ½ of 1 per cent lower during the period since May 1953 than the cost of other forms of mortgage financing generally available to veterans.

"BECAUSE THE VA interest rate was competitive," they said, "veterans have been able to obtain large numbers of loans at the lowest cost consistent with mortgage market conditions.

The restrictions put on GI home loans July 30 provided that on future VA commitments—but not retroactively—a down payment of 2 per cent would be required of the purchaser and maximum maturity was shortened from 30 to 25 years.

The VA official said the full effect of the restrictions has not yet been reflected in the GI loan field because possibly as many as 500,000 drellings, some of which had not been started July 30 had already been approved for guaranty under the no-down-payment and 30-year mortgage maturity regulations.

Schooner Fate Mystery

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 16 (AP)—Two crippled vessels were being towed toward safety today but the fate of a schooner sighted in heavy seas off Newfoundland remained a mystery. The British coal carrier was disabled and partly flooded last Sunday when a storm smashed her steering gear, lifeboats and part of the bridge.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Discard Is Key to Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played, East and West made a determined effort to shut South out of the auction. As it happened, however, South had so tremendous a hand that he was not to be shut out. In fact, South made his second bid at the slam level to make sure of getting high enough.

West opened the ace of spades, reasonably enough, and should have switched to his singleton heart at the second trick. Instead, he continued with another spade, thus giving declarer the chance to make the slam contract.

At the third trick, declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, discovering the bad break.

It was now necessary to establish the diamonds by ruffing in the dummy. Sellinger took the top diamonds, ruffed a diamond in the dummy and returned to his hand with a trump. He then ruffed another diamond with dummy's last trump and had to get back to his own hand to draw trumps.

It was at this time that Sellinger's care in discarding the heart paid dividends. He could lead a low heart from dummy and ruff in his own hand with a low trump. West had to follow suit and declarer therefore was able to draw trumps safely and run the rest of his tricks with good diamonds.

If declarer had failed to discard a heart earlier, he would have to ruff the second round of hearts with a trump high enough to shut West out. This would result in giving West a natural trump trick later on.

Soviets Practice Disraeli Policy

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—An American observer brings back from Moscow a diplomat's suggestion that the Soviet Union today is practicing a "new kind of political capitalism" reminiscent of Britain's imperialism in the reign of Queen Victoria.

This observer, former U. S. Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, quotes an experienced European diplomat to this effect—that the Russians learned a lesson from Victoria's celebrated prime minister, Disraeli, who combined politics with capital investment to establish British influence in the Middle East.

DISRAELI in 1877 put up the cash to buy Egyptian shares in the Suez Canal. Then the British moved in with their technicians and others to establish control of Egypt.

The Communists today are reported selling arms to Egypt at 25 per cent or less of their cost. The arms may be obsolete for the Russian's in the light of today's arms race, but such equipment likely is more modern than anything possessed by Israel or the Arab nations.

In addition, says Benton's informant, the Russians have offered to pay a third of the cost of Egypt's ambitious hydroelectric program, which would mean an investment for Moscow of the equivalent of 200 million dollars. The project would increase the arable land of Egypt by 30 per cent.

With the guns and technical help go the Russian technicians, and the process is repeated in many areas. They move in with highly dramatic and important projects, such as the projected steel mill for India which the Russians are to finance.

Benton quotes this same diplomat as saying that Afghanistan would collapse under Pakistan's boycott if it were not for Soviet money and exports. The same source regards Syria as a critical Middle East soft spot under Soviet political attack.

Benton, who was in Moscow recently as publisher of the Encyclopedia Brittanica, talked to many western diplomats in the Soviet Union and the satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

"THE RUSSIAN foreign economic policy is dynamic," a diplomat told Benton. "It is very appealing to peoples like the Egyptians and Indians who are seeking to industrialize. Further, the Russians can export capital without having to justify such exports to their taxpayers. This gives them a big advantage in working out these big time deals."

Benton talked with many top-level Soviet leaders and with many responsible ministers. He reports he found the hierarchy made up of able and extraordinary men, but men who were "surprisingly ignorant in certain key areas." He found them zealous and highly indoctrinated, tough and aggressive, "ready to make almost any sacrifice to achieve desired goals." All this, Benton told this reporter, adds up to potential danger for the United States.

BENTON SPECULATED that it might be a good idea to try to bring some of the upper level Soviet leaders to the United States in an effort to dispel their ignorance of things American, although he added he would want to examine the idea more thoroughly with regard to the possible disadvantages to the United States. However, he said he thought it a good thing that Premier N. A. Bulganin and Communist boss N. S. Kruschchev were planning to visit Britain.

It might, Benton said, "be politically dramatic if the President invited all 11 members of the (ruling Communist party) Presidium to visit the United States, asking them to come two at a time so justice would be done to them and so they would spend their time with Americans instead of with each other."

Expect GI Loans Will Stay at Present Level

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Veterans Administration (VA) officials today optimistically forecast that the GI home loan guaranty business will continue at a near record level of 650,000 applications in 1956.

They drew that picture despite administration moves in some fields to tighten credit but with encouragement from a slight easing this week in the federal home loan bank's limitations on loans to savings and loan associations.

LAST JULY WHAT are described as "moderate" restrictions were placed on both VA and Federal Housing Administration (FHA) housing credit. There are indications these may soon to be modified, too, by again allowing 30-year maturity loans. The maximum term of such loans was cut to 25 years on July 30.

But there has been no indication of any easing in the federal reserve rediscount rate, which has been boosted four times this year until at 2½ per cent it is at the highest level in 20 years.

Thomas J. Sweeney, director of VA's loan guaranty service, said VA is expecting some 650,000 GI home loan applications next year. Such applications are filed after a private lender has entered into a commitment to make a loan with VA guaranty of a portion.

SUCH A VOLUME in 1956 would equal the record 650,000 estimated for this full year. It would compare with a previous top of 630,000 in 1950 and 528,000 in 1954.

VA's home loan guaranty business began booming in April 1954 after several lean years and has been operating at a record rate all this year.

Officials who discussed the situation with a reporter said much of the increase resulted from a May 1953 ruling raising from 4 to 4½ per cent the maximum permissible interest rate on GI loans.

They conceded the increase has meant that some 950,000 veterans have committed themselves to pay as much as $551 million dollars more in increased interest costs than if the rate had been 4 per cent, but said that without it few loans—or houses—would have been available to veterans.

VA STATISTICS showed that under the old maximum limit of 4 per cent the number of applications for home loan guaranty reached 34,000 in only one month between April 1951 and April 1954. The full effect of the 4½ per cent maximum limit was not reflected until early 1954.

Starting at 34,103 applications in April 1954, the monthly totals jumped to 41,916 in May 1954 and to 59,470 in August that year. They have not dropped below 51,000 in 16 months and reached 66,305 in August this year.

Since the maximum interest rate was hiked, the average loan has been $10,600, with a maturity of 25 years.

However, the officials estimated only an actual 12-year life for the average loan because of prepayments, sales of homes or other reasons for prior settlement.

ON THE BASIS of a $10,600 loan running for 12 years, the additional interest cost because of the 1953 rate increase would amount to $579 per loan or $551,050,000 for 950,000 loans.

Should the average loan run the full 25-year-average maturity, the increased interest cost would be $891 per loan or something like $846,450,000.

The officials said in a statement that any comparisons in the interest costs before and after the increase "are somewhat hypothetical, since the continuation of a 4 per cent rate on GI loans would probably have meant that the majority of veterans who subsequently obtained 4½ per cent GI loans would not have obtained GI financing at all."

They noted that the GI loan interest rate of 4½ per cent had been at least ½ of 1 per cent lower during the period since May 1953 than the cost of other forms of mortgage financing generally available to veterans.

"BECAUSE THE VA interest rate was competitive," they said, "veterans have been able to obtain large numbers of loans at the lowest cost consistent with mortgage market conditions.

The restrictions put on GI home loans July 30 provided that on future VA commitments—but not retroactively—a down payment of 2 per cent would be required of the purchaser and maximum maturity was shortened from 30 to 25 years.

The VA official said the full effect of the restrictions has not yet been reflected in the GI loan field because possibly as many as 500,000 drellings, some of which had not been started July 30 had already been approved for guaranty under the no-down-payment and 30-year mortgage maturity regulations.

MR. AND MRS. CURTIS VANDEMARK
(Tom Reynolds)

Rosetta Jackson Weds Former Army Sgt.

Miss Rosetta Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jackson of 11 Sycamore street, became the bride of Curtis Van Demark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Van Demark of East Pierpont street, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 2 p. m., in the New Central Baptist Church. The Rev. Oscar Palmer performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Eda Marable was at the organ and Miss Dorthy Marable sang the Lord's Prayer, Because and O, Promise Me.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of Chantilly lace, styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a portrait neckline. Her bouffant skirt, composed of alternating panels of lace and fulle terminated in a long train. Her French illusion three-quarter length veil fell from a Queen's crown of tulle leaves trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearlized orange blossoms. The bride carried a prayer book with white carnations trimmed with streamers and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Ethel Dismuke of 32 Tompkins street was the maid of honor. She wore a gold crystallette gown in ballerina length, tight bodice, full skirt with scalloped hem trimmed wtih nylon marquisette. Her nylon hat featured a shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids included Rose Crispell of 61 Van Buren street, Miss Lillian McDonald, 215 North street, Miss Annie Jackson, 239 Catherine street and Miss Ethel Mae Jones of 19 Ann street. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the maid of honor in colors of pink and turquoise.

Melanie Ann Boggs, niece of the bride and Marlene Palmer were the flower girls. Both wore green crystallette gowns, ballerina length, strapless with small matching capelets, tight bodice, full skirt with scalloped hem and nylon marquisette trim at the hemline. They wore nylon hats with matching shoulder length veils.

Child ringbearer was Joseph Holland.

Miss Jackson is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Montgomery Ward and Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a truck driver for Hudson Valley Farms. He was a sergeant in the U. S. Army and served overseas with the 29th Signal Corps for 28 months. His total service with the Army was three years.

The couple will reside at 11 Sycamore street.

(By The Associated Press)

If you break a leg on a ski slope this winter or mar your beauty by getting your nose bashed in—if you are afflicted by pimples, dandruff or milkmaid's knee—don't sit around and bemoan your fate.

This may be the turning point in your fortunes.

Some of today's most famous and successful career women have turned a misfortune into a bonanza.

There's Lydia O'Leary, for instance, who was born with a disfiguring birthmark and experimented until she developed a covering cosmetic which not only solved her personal problem but now is used all over the world to mask disfigurations. During the war she worked with many wounded service men who felt they could not face the world with the scars of war, and helped them to resume their normal lives.

There's Lilly Dache, who was impelled to start her own millinery business after losing her job as a salesgirl in a department store, and who developed her designing skill as a child, when she pinned fruit and flowers in her hair trying to be as pretty as her sister.

And there's Georgette Klinger, who turned a teen-age case of acne into an international business.

Georgette, blonde, petite and highly decorative, won a case of cosmetics when she was crowned beauty queen of Budapest as a girl. The cosmetics didn't agree with her skin, and the state in which she found herself should never happen to a beauty queen.

Instead of feeling sorry for herself, Georgette decided to do something about it. She enrolled at the University of Budapest, concentrating on study of the skin and its care. While curing her own affliction she developed many new methods of skin treatment, and acquired a wide reputation as an expert in her field before coming to America in 1940.

Today Georgette's skin is as clear, smooth and lovely as that of any current beauty queen, and she has helped thousands of other women—and even some men—to correct skin blemishes.

Nowadays she divides her time between a Madison avenue salon in New York, and her home, husband and 5-year-old daughter, Kathy. Says she:

"I am teaching Kathy the basic lesson of beauty—keeping your face clean. Most women today, especially in cities, have dirty faces, whether they know it or not. The dust, smoke and the grime in the air clog pores and cause all kinds of skin blemishes.

"And the more things you put on your face—foundations, powders and such—the dirtier it is.

"When Kathy reaches high school age, I hope she remembers these lessons. And if she must use makeup, I hope she takes it all off every night and goes to bed with her face clean. Just this one simple precaution would cure many of the troubles of youthful skins."

Georgette's philosophy is equally simple. It goes something like this:

"Nothing that happens to you ever is all bad, if you take the trouble to look for that silver lining."

Old Dutch Church Presents Annual Nativity Scene

"The Nativity," a living representation of the Birth of Christ, will be presented in the yard of the Old Dutch Church, Sunday, Dec. 18 and each evening through Christmas Eve. The pageant will begin at 7 p. m. and end at 9:30 p, m. Chimes from the steeple will form a musical background for the scene.

This project of the Old Dutch Church was begun five years ago with the purpose of endeavoring to put Christ back in Christmas. In the heart of the uptown business section it serves to remind people of the true meaning of Christmas—the birthday of the Saviour of the world. Many boys and girls get a vivid impression of the circumstances under which Christ was born from Nativity scenes. These show the Baby Jesus in the manger, watched over by Mary and Joseph, while near by, in the attitude of worship are the shepherds and the Wise Men from the East. The good donkey that bore Mary to Bethlehem is part of the scene and the ever present sheep, so common to Palestine, are there too.

This Christmas custom, which originated in the church was popularized by St. Francis of Assisi who set up the first simple manger scene at the little town of Greccio, Italy, in 1224.

During the Middle Ages there were only a few books; even if there had been more, most of the people could not have read them. Naturally, the church ceremonies were conducted in Latin, so such holidays as Christmas and Easter held, perhaps, little meaning for many church attendants. This worried St. Francis, known as "The Little Brother of Mankind," for he wanted to humanize the teachings of the Scriptures, and to show his followers that Christ also came from humble beginnings.

St. Francis asked a wealthy nobleman to help prepare the presentation. Before Christmas came, the news spread rapidly through the town and countryside; therefore, crowds of worshippers, many with torches and carrying presents for the Holy Babe, thronged to see this unusual way of teaching the sacred story. For the first time, it is asserted, many understood the true meaning of that event in the stable at Bethlehem. As the crowds assembled St. Francis begged his listeners to put all hatred from their hearts, and to think only of peace at the Christmas season.

Since that first Nativity scene seven centuries ago, the idea spread to many of the countries of the world and the presentation by the Old Dutch Church carries on this beautiful and meaningful tradition.

Fair Street Church To Present Pageant And Oratorio Sunday

A Christmas pageant-oratorio, "Bethlehem," by J. H. Maunder will be presented in the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Singing the solo roles with the senior Chancel choir will be Mrs. June Crosby, soprano, Mrs. Elmor Nathan and Mrs. Wallace Wood, contraltos, Richard Baker, tenor, and Richard Hessdorfer, bass. The choir will be under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Wood. The junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. William Rylance, will sing traditional carols before the service.

The two high school seniors playing the parts of Mary and Joseph will be Carol Rylance and Lee Kias. The three kings will be Harry LeFever III, William Best, and David Rylance with their attendants, William Palen, Milton M. Grover III, and Frederick DeTemple. Judson Emerick will take the part of Isaiah. Playing the role of shepherds will be John Chepeleff, Derek Schoonmaker, Peter Dingeldey, Thomas Emerick, William Miller, Ronald Storm and Griffeth Richards.

Angels and members of the Beverly Christiana, Sandra Miller, Beverly Havlin, Bonnie MacFadden, Nancy Parker, Katherine Brinnier, Susan Umpleby, Jane LeFever, Pamela Dykstra, Sally Shurter, Judy Smith, Alma Strickland, Linda Lasher, and Dorothy Whipple.

A giant living-picture setting has been built in the church chancel for the production under the direction of Otto Havlin and Edward Dingeldey. Special lighting has been installed by Frank Byer and costuming is in charge of Mrs. J. Dean Dykstra and Mrs. William S. Eltinge. The general production is directed by the Rev. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the church.

Visitors and friends of the church are cordially welcomed to attend this special service.

Christmas Program Given by Students Of School No. 6

More than 300 persons attended the Dec. 13 meeting of School No. 6 P-TA, which was held in the George Washington School. Following a short business meeting, the students of School No. 6 presented a Christmas program.

Featured in the program were Christmas carols, instrumental solos and glee club numbers. Fred Van Deusen, well known and popular magician, also appeared.

Special acknowledgements for preparation of the program go to William Reardon, principal; Charles Rinschler, skits, and teachers Mrs. Regina Swarthout, Miss Gertrude Netter, Miss Irene McDonough, Mrs. Tillie Shienvold, Miss Catherine Murray, Mrs. Jeanette Kernochan, Mrs. Dorothy Raichle, Miss Jannette Edson, Miss Terry Roberts and Mrs. Patricia Stedge.

Special assistants were Joseph Shuler and Kenneth Millham.

At the conclusion of the program, the entire assembly joined with the students in singing two Christmas carols, "O Come, All Ye Faithful," and "Joy to the World."

Old Dutch Church Presents Annual Nativity Scene

"The Nativity," a living representation of the Birth of Christ, will be presented in the yard of the Old Dutch Church, Sunday, Dec. 18 and each evening through Christmas Eve. The pageant will begin at 7 p. m. and end at 9:30 p, m. Chimes from the steeple will form a musical background for the scene.

This project of the Old Dutch Church was begun five years ago with the purpose of endeavoring to put Christ back in Christmas. In the heart of the uptown business section it serves to remind people of the true meaning of Christmas—the birthday of the Saviour of the world. Many boys and girls get a vivid impression of the circumstances under which Christ was born from Nativity scenes. These show the Baby Jesus in the manger, watched over by Mary and Joseph, while near by, in the attitude of worship are the shepherds and the Wise Men from the East. The good donkey that bore Mary to Bethlehem is part of the scene and the ever present sheep, so common to Palestine, are there too.

This Christmas custom, which originated in the church was popularized by St. Francis of Assisi who set up the first simple manger scene at the little town of Greccio, Italy, in 1224.

During the Middle Ages there were only a few books; even if there had been more, most of the people could not have read them. Naturally, the church ceremonies were conducted in Latin, so such holidays as Christmas and Easter held, perhaps, little meaning for many church attendants. This worried St. Francis, known as "The Little Brother of Mankind," for he wanted to humanize the teachings of the Scriptures, and to show his followers that Christ also came from humble beginnings.

St. Francis asked a wealthy nobleman to help prepare the presentation. Before Christmas came, the news spread rapidly through the town and countryside; therefore, crowds of worshippers, many with torches and carrying presents for the Holy Babe, thronged to see this unusual way of teaching the sacred story. For the first time, it is asserted, many understood the true meaning of that event in the stable at Bethlehem. As the crowds assembled St. Francis begged his listeners to put all hatred from their hearts, and to think only of peace at the Christmas season.

Since that first Nativity scene seven centuries ago, the idea spread to many of the countries of the world and the presentation by the Old Dutch Church carries on this beautiful and meaningful tradition.

Finds Wife Dead

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 33-year-old French-born woman, her throat slashed, was found dead in her Brooklyn apartment last night. Police said robbery was a possible motive in the killing. The body of Mrs. Arlette Collins was discovered by her polio-crippled husband, Frank, a World War 2 army veteran when he returned home from his bookkeeping job. Clad in a neglige and a housecoat, Mrs. Collins, a war bride, was sprawled across the threshold of the bathroom. Police said she had not been molested.

CONCERNING THE WEARING OF GLOVES

A reader asks: "I would like to know if it is proper to wear gloves while marketing? I like to wear gloves and wear them all the time, but it seems that the women in this town very rarely wear them. The other day while shopping I overheard a woman remark to her friend as they went past me, 'Look at the gloves' and both snickered. Will you please tell me if it is wrong to wear gloves on this occasion? Also, will you please tell me when they are properly worn?"

In a market where you help yourself to groceries and other foods, gloves would be very easily soiled and therefore it would be best to leave them off. In a market where you are waited on by a clerk, wearing gloves into the store is entirely correct. On the streets of large cities no fashionable woman goes without gloves. In small towns some women wear them and others don't.

Economizing on Postage

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you approve of greeting cards of any kind being sent with the flaps tucked into the envelopes and using a 2-cent stamp? This question comes up often, particularly at this time of the year. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: If this extra postage means a real difference and would mean sending less cards, leaving the envelope unsealed would be understandable. But people who have a good income should not do this.

The Second Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and am going to be married soon for the second time. I would like to know if it would be proper to wear my first wedding ring and my new wedding ring together? My first ring is very pretty and rather unusual and I would like to continue wearing it if it would not be improper.

Answer: The only question to answer is whether or not your new husband will object.

Death Claims Two Character Actors

Hollywood, Dec. 16 (AP)—Dorothy Bernard, 61, and Paul Harvey, 71, two of the theater's best know character actors, died yesterday of heart attacks.

Miss Bernard, currently appearing as "Margaret" and cook-housekeeper in the television series "Life With Father", was stricken in her home.

Harvey, who often played forthright business and professional leaders, died in his sleep.

Miss Bernard originated the Cook role in the Broadway run of "Life With Father" and was active in other movie and television roles. From 1924-29, Miss Bernard was an associate editor of Harper's Bazaar magazine.

Harvey, a native of Sandwich, Ill., appeared in such Broadway hits as "Dinner at Eight" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan." Harvey's first talkie was "The Awful Truth" in 1929.

CONCERNING THE WEARING OF GLOVES

A reader asks: "I would like to know if it is proper to wear gloves while marketing? I like to wear gloves and wear them all the time, but it seems that the women in this town very rarely wear them. The other day while shopping I overheard a woman remark to her friend as they went past me, 'Look at the gloves' and both snickered. Will you please tell me if it is wrong to wear gloves on this occasion? Also, will you please tell me when they are properly worn?"

In a market where you help yourself to groceries and other foods, gloves would be very easily soiled and therefore it would be best to leave them off. In a market where you are waited on by a clerk, wearing gloves into the store is entirely correct. On the streets of large cities no fashionable woman goes without gloves. In small towns some women wear them and others don't.

Economizing on Postage

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you approve of greeting cards of any kind being sent with the flaps tucked into the envelopes and using a 2-cent stamp? This question comes up often, particularly at this time of the year. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: If this extra postage means a real difference and would mean sending less cards, leaving the envelope unsealed would be understandable. But people who have a good income should not do this.

The Second Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and am going to be married soon for the second time. I would like to know if it would be proper to wear my first wedding ring and my new wedding ring together? My first ring is very pretty and rather unusual and I would like to continue wearing it if it would not be improper.

Answer: The only question to answer is whether or not your new husband will object.

Death Claims Two Character Actors

Hollywood, Dec. 16 (AP)—Dorothy Bernard, 61, and Paul Harvey, 71, two of the theater's best know character actors, died yesterday of heart attacks.

Miss Bernard, currently appearing as "Margaret" and cookhousekeeper in the television series "Life With Father", was stricken in her home.

Harvey, who often played forthright business and professional leaders, died in his sleep.

Miss Bernard originated the Cook role in the Broadway run of "Life With Father" and was active in other movie and television roles. From 1924-29, Miss Bernard was an associate editor of Harper's Bazaar magazine.

Harvey, a native of Sandwich, Ill., appeared in such Broadway hits as "Dinner at Eight" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan." Harvey's first talkie was "The Awful Truth" in 1929.

grown to the extent that they have moved into a higher rate bracket.

After taxes, the eight million dollar raise would give the company an added net income of about $3,700,000 a year.

The PSC allowed hotels to charge an extra penny on outgoing local calls. They currently get 16 cents per outgoing call—and had asked for a six-cent boost plus a seven-cent hike on toll calls above 25 cents.

It was the third time in the last four years the PSC had turned down a general increase in basic telephone rates. The last rejection in 1954 is being appealed by the company in the courts. The company last night would not say whether it would appeal last night's decision.

Ten Get $350,000 Verdict Against GM

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Ten men who sued General Motors Corp. for damages after a truck accident have been granted a total of $350,000.

The award, made yesterday by a Federal Court jury after 5½ hours' deliberation, was the largest ever made in the court's northern New York district.

General Motors attorneys said they would move Wednesday to have the verdict set aside.

The 10 alleged that the accident five years ago in Rensselaer county was caused by a defective steering mechanism. They accused General Motors of negligence in manufacture of the vehicle.

They were injured June 6, 1950, when the truck in which they were riding went down an embankment on Route 7 between Hoosac and Albany. Twenty-six men, all construction workers, were in the truck. One was killed. Sixteen were injured.

Water Pirated

Ottawa, Ill. (AP)—Water "pirates" are operating hereabouts. A survey by a Citizens Advisory Committee disclosed 127 homes without water meters, over 90 of which never have been registered on water bill books.

Two Bodies Found

Fort Smith, Ark., Dec. 16 (AP)—The bodies of two men who were buried alive when the walls of a deep excavation crumbled were recovered yesterday, ending a search of almost 48 hours. The victims, Lee Otis Sivley, a Fort Smith fireman, and Donald Daggs, an 18-year-old construction worker from Hartford, Ark., died almost instantly when the pit caved in, said Coroner William H. Pope. Daggs was trapped Tuesday afternoon when wooden braces supporting the sides of the hole collapsed, pouring dirt and debris on him and two other laborers. Firemen quickly rescued two of the men, and Sivley was attempting to free Daggs when a second cave in buried both of them.

Deserter Gets 6 Years

Ft. Dix, N. J., Dec. 16 (AP)—Pvt. Edward Sikorski of Menands, N. Y., convicted of desertion by an army court martial board, has been sentenced to six years in prison. The five-man court martial board reached its verdict yesterday after a day and a half of hearings in the case against the 35-year-old concrete finisher. His sentence, in addition to the prison term, called for a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

rized what is know about merchandising as follows: "We know that retailing apples in bulk display is the poorest method of merchandising known. We know that there are tremendous advantages in prepackaging apples in order to facilitate ease of purchase. We know that shoppers buy the quantity of apples suggested by the size of our pricing unit and that the five and six-pound units maximize sales.

"We know that retailers constantly attempt to minimize the size of pricing unit in order to meet the demands of those few shoppers who want only small quantities. This serves to reduce sales to the majority of shoppers who want larger quantities.

"We know that offering bulk along with prepackaged apples is the most effective way of meeting the requirements of the occasional small unit purchase without suggesting a small unit purchase to those shoppers who are in the market for greater quantities. We know that consumer packages must be transparent, convenient to handle and low in cost. We know that we must put up a good quality pack."

HE SAID THE new ideas in apple merchandising were working but were simply not being applied enough in the markets.

Dr. Cameron Garman of Burt, speaking on the topic, "Organizing to Protect Ourselves in a Changing Market System," said that as he saw it, "we already have the organizations to do the most fundamental thing that needs to be done—that is, to create a desire on the part of the public for our product."

"To accomplish this we need to enlarge our national advertising and promotion program. After we have created the desire we need to deliver the goods.

SPEAKING ON the topic, "Observations on Competition From the West," Dr. A. J. Heinicke, director of the New York State Horticultural Experiment Station, Geneva, pointed out that competition was not so much with the west as with growers of other types of fruit and with other items of foodstuff.

He said the consumer was spending a much smaller amount for food today than he did a generation ago although the food consumed was about the same. He pointed out that the average person during the past 10 years consumed about 200 pounds of fruit each year but that apple consumption dropped during the period that fruit consumption increased.

He said there was a slight indication that apple production in the East would increase somewhat in the next few years.

Bennett Dominick, department of agricultural economics, Cornell, speaking on the topic, "The Current Apple Supply Situation and Production Expected During the Next 10 Years," gave figures to show that apple production increased, this year over last year in New York state although it declined somewhat in the United States as a whole. A total of 17.1 million bushels were grown in this state in 1955 against 16.9 million bushels in last year. National production declined from 109.5 million last year to 105 million this year.

Fred Burroughs of the International Apple Association, Washington, D. C., speaking on the topic, "Report on Tree Plantings in the United States," said that today the progressive grower stood on the threshold of opportunity if he had good fruit, good distribution and good promotion. Only the best orchards, trees and varieties will succeed, however.

John Chandler, executive vice-president of the New York and New England Apple Institute, spoke on the topic, "The Institute Program Is Working." He said indications were that hundreds of growers were contributing three cents a bushel on apples sold for benefit of the institute and that the institute would be in an increasingly improved position to do a good job of apple selling.

HE DESCRIBED a four-week campaign at harvest time last year by radio, television and newspaper, costing $30,000, and another drive during the two and a half weeks preceding Thanksgiving, costing $15,000. He said the movement of apples, due considerably to the advertising drives, had been tremendous but that the apple markets had also been flooded with apples, resulting in too many apples and too few markets.

He said he would like to see another four week drive in January.

L. W. Marvin, manager of the New York and New England Apple Institute, presenting a progress report on a trip he made through the mid-west and south, said the McIntosh apples were, with very few exceptions, of good appearance and quality in retail outlets.

He said the acceptance of the Northeastern McIntosh and Red Delicious apple in those markets was "inspiring," that buyers wanted to know where they could buy more.

Frank Southwick of Massachusetts, speaking on the topic, "Analysis of the McIntosh Drop in 1955 and How to Anticipate It Another Season," said there had been a long hot summer and the apples had reached the stage where they were ready to drop before they had matured well. Possibly for this reason the materials applied to the trees failed to respond as well, were not absorbed effectively.

He described newly developed materials for controlling apple drop. These materials should be applied just before picking time and they delay "abscission" — dropping of apples from the tree. Results this year were disappointing, he said, due mainly to the fact that abscission had already started before the materials were applied, and also to the fact that the foliage did not absorb the drop spray effectively, perhaps because the leaves were so dry.

Report Clears Father

Melbourne, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—A coroner's jury late yesterday decided that Mrs. Patricia Van Eeghen and her 7-year-old daughter Phyllis met death a week ago "at the hands of a person or persons unknown." The action freed Philip Van Eeghen, 30, who had been held in jail for four days following the finding of the bodies early last Friday. No charges had been filed against him. Dr. E. C. Tedford, examining physician, told the coroner's jury that Mrs. Van Eeeghen, 29, and her daughter both died of head wounds caused by a sharp, heavy instrument.

Adventist Church Schedules Services

Sabbath school of the Kingston Seventh Day Adventist, 30 Pearl street, will begin at 1:45 p. m., Saturday, with Gerald Shampo leading. "Angels in the Final Gospel Work" is the title of the lesson for study and discussion this week. The lesson study will be followed by a mission period. Among other things to be discussed in this period will be the Christmas caroling.

THIS PAST WEEK a band of men, women and children have gone out to sing carols and collect money from house to house for the Seventh Day Adventist Mission program. This coming week they will continue to do this with the help of a recording machine and loud speaker.

The church service will commence at 3 p. m. The Rev. Jamile Jacobs will preach. The title of his sermon being, "Unto Greater Service." Prayer meeting will again begin at 6:30 on Wednesday and will be followed by caroling.

Ike Plays Host

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower played host to an old Denver friend today on his frost-nipped Gettysburg farm. The President spent part of the morning showing his longtime fishing companion, Aksel Nielsen, his acres and his livestock. A light snow fell on the farm during the night. Nielsen arrived with Col. Andrew Goodpaster, the White House staff secretary, who discussed some official business with the President. Both visitors were leaving in midday for Washington.

Dr. Cameron Garman of Burt, speaking on the topic, "Organizing to Protect Ourselves in a Changing Market System," said that as he saw it, "we already have the organizations to do the most fundamental thing that needs to be done—that is, to create a desire on the part of the public for our product."

"To accomplish this we need to enlarge our national advertising and promotion program. After we have created the desire we need to deliver the goods.

SPEAKING ON the topic, "Observations on Competition From the West," Dr. A. J. Heinicke, director of the New York State Horticultural Experiment Station, Geneva, pointed out that competition was not so much with the west as with growers of other types of fruit and with other items of foodstuff.

He said the consumer was spending a much smaller amount for food today than he did a generation ago although the food consumed was about the same. He pointed out that the average person during the past 10 years consumed about 200 pounds of fruit each year but that apple consumption dropped during the period that fruit consumption increased.

He said there was a slight indication that apple production in the East would increase somewhat in the next few years.

Bennett Dominick, department of agricultural economics, Cornell, speaking on the topic, "The Current Apple Supply Situation and Production Expected During the Next 10 Years," gave figures to show that apple production increased, this year over last year in New York state although it declined somewhat in the United States as a whole. A total of 17.1 million bushels were grown in this state in 1955 against 16.9 million bushels in last year. National production declined from 109.5 million last year to 105 million this year.

Fred Burroughs of the International Apple Association, Washington, D. C., speaking on the topic, "Report on Tree Plantings in the United States," said that today the progressive grower stood on the threshold of opportunity if he had good fruit, good distribution and good promotion. Only the best orchards, trees and varieties will succeed, however.

John Chandler, executive vice-president of the New York and New England Apple Institute, spoke on the topic, "The Institute Program Is Working." He said indications were that hundreds of growers were contributing three cents a bushel on apples sold for benefit of the institute and that the institute would be in an increasingly improved position to do a good job of apple selling.

HE DESCRIBED a four-week campaign at harvest time last year by radio, television and newspaper, costing $30,000, and another drive during the two and a half weeks preceding Thanksgiving, costing $15,000. He said the movement of apples, due considerably to the advertising drives, had been tremendous but that the apple markets had also been flooded with apples, resulting in too many apples and too few markets.

He said he would like to see another four week drive in January.

L. W. Marvin, manager of the New York and New England Apple Institute, presenting a progress report on a trip he made through the mid-west and south, said the McIntosh apples were, with very few exceptions, of good appearance and quality in retail outlets.

He said the acceptance of the Northeastern McIntosh and Red Delicious apple in those markets was "inspiring," that buyers wanted to know where they could buy more.

Frank Southwick of Massachusetts, speaking on the topic, "Analysis of the McIntosh Drop in 1955 and How to Anticipate It Another Season," said there had been a long hot summer and the apples had reached the stage where they were ready to drop before they had matured well. Possibly for this reason the materials applied to the trees failed to respond as well, were not absorbed effectively.

He described newly developed materials for controlling apple drop. These materials should be applied just before picking time and they delay "abscission"—dropping of apples from the tree. Results this year were disappointing, he said, due mainly to the fact that abscission had already started before the materials were applied, and also to the fact that the foliage did not absorb the drop spray effectively, perhaps because the leaves were so dry.

Report Clears Father

Melbourne, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—A coroner's jury late yesterday decided that Mrs. Patricia Van Eeghen and her 7-year-old daughter Phyllis met death a week ago "at the hands of a person or persons unknown." The action freed Philip Van Eeghen, 30, who had been held in jail for four days following the finding of the bodies early last Friday. No charges had been filed against him. Dr. E. C. Tedford, examining physician, told the coroner's jury that Mrs. Van Eeeghen, 29, and her daughter both died of head wounds caused by a sharp, heavy instrument.

Adventist Church Schedules Services

Sabbath school of the Kingston Seventh Day Adventist, 30 Pearl street, will begin at 1:45 p. m., Saturday, with Gerald Shampo leading. "Angels in the Final Gospel Work" is the title of the lesson for study and discussion this week. The lesson study will be followed by a mission period. Among other things to be discussed in this period will be the Christmas caroling.

THIS PAST WEEK a band of men, women and children have gone out to sing carols and collect money from house to house for the Seventh Day Adventist Mission program. This coming week they will continue to do this with the help of a recording machine and loud speaker.

The church service will commence at 3 p. m. The Rev. Jamile Jacobs will preach. The title of his sermon being, "Unto Greater Service." Prayer meeting will again begin at 6:30 on Wednesday and will be followed by caroling.

Ike Plays Host

Highland	0	2
Wallkill	0	3

Saugerties moved ahead early in the game and remained in that position. Wallkill was hopelessly behind by halftime.

BOB HANSEN poured 25 points through the hoop to lead the Sawyer scoring parade. Bill Hanna flipped 14, Joe Martin 13 and Don Whitaker 10.

Wallkill's Joe Tysse was the game's top scorer with 27 points. Joe Sheehy notched 10.

The Sawyers have one game remaining before the holiday. That will be a UCAL encounter at New Paltz Tuesday night.

Saugerties captured the jayvee game, 51-36, as Barry Fellows and Ed Riozzi racked up a dozen points apiece.

J. Wilman Takes Lead In Bowling

Chicago, Dec. 16 (AP)—Veteran Joe Wilman, a former champion, and Anita Cantaline of Detroit, held the top spot after the first day's competition in the finals of the National All-Star bowling tournament.

Wilman, champion in 1945-46, continued his excellent sniping yesterday during the opening day's four four-game matches and held a 3.15 Petersen point lead over youthful Dick Weber of St. Louis. Wilman, of suburban Berwyn, moved into the top at the end of the third match, displacing Weber.

IN MARCHING to the front, Wilman won 13 of the 16 games. He defeated Stan Thaden, Chicago; Harry Smith, Detroit; Weber, and Tom Hennessey, Detroit, in that order. He pulled up 79.34 points to Weber's 76.19.

Miss Cantaline, a bowling instructor, has 39.05 points. She won all her eight games, for a 1.63 point lead over Marge Herrick, of Columbus, Ohio.

Boys Club Junior Cagers Open New Season Tonight

The Junior league is composed of four teams in the 9-14 age group. Under special rules, the 10-second and three-second rule will be eliminated. The game is played on a half-court length with 8-minute quarters. The league will emphasize sportsmanship.

Reese Inks Pact; Bavasi Suggests Lighter Schedule

Brooklyn, Dec. 16 (AP)—Pee Wee Reese, 36-year-old captain of Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers, has signed his 1956 contract but vice president Buzzy Bavasi, for one, hopes he doesn't try to play every game. Reese, first of the Dodgers to sign a new contract, reportedly received a boost of $1,000 to $36,000.

"If he tries to play 150 games or so, he may break down in one more year," said Bavasi, "but if he plays, say 130, he'll be good for two or three more—and help us a lot more that way."

Some time next season, they'll stop a Brooklyn game and hand Reese a baseball. It will be for his 2,000th National League hit. He needs just 84.

Ski Conditions

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Skiing conditions as reported Thursday to the New York State Department of Commerce:

Alpine Meadows—3 powder, 1-3 granular base. Tows not operating.

BELLEAYRE—4 powder, 3 base, fair.

Old Forge—4 new snow, 6 settled. No skiing.

Maroons to Play At Catskill High

Kingston High School's basketball team will play at the Catskill High court tonight in a non-league game. The Kingstonians will be seeking their fourth victory.

The varsity game will begin at approximately 8:30 o'clock. The jayvee contest is scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock.

Dons Seek 30th Straight in Go With Marquette

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons and their fabulous All-America Bill Russell shoot for their 30th straight victory against Marquette in Chicago tonight as the whirl of Christmas holiday major college basketball tournaments gets under way.

The Dons, who snared the NCAA crown last year on the great play of the 6:10 Russell, tangle with Marquette in the feature first round game of the DePaul Invitation. They will take the floor following the other first round game between Duquesne and DePaul starting at 8:45 p. m. EST. The winners play for the tourney title Saturday.

THE BLUE-GRAY tournament at Montgomery, Ala., bringing together Auburn, Eastern Kentucky, Mississippi and Texas also opens tonight.

Kentucky nipped Maryland 62-61 in the top game of a Thursday night program that also saw Oklahoma defeat Arkansas 69-59, Tulsa take Western Kentucky 67-56, Oklahoma City trim Wyoming 65-59, Kansas State drub Los Angeles Loyola 92-66, Tufts upset Harvard 84-76, Yale scalp Wesleyan 97-36, Kentucky Wesleyan whip Hardin-Simmons 68-60, Tennessee wallop Springfield (Mass.) 67-33 and the Citadel end a 28-game losing streak by beating College of Charleston 56-52.

Trotting Association Picks Pacing Leaders

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 16 (AP)—Belle Acton, Quick Chief and Adois Harry have been named the year's best pacers in their divisions — two-year-old, three-year-old and aged pacers, respectively.

Scott Frost, Saboteur and Kimberly Kid won similar honors for trotters.

The selections were made by sports writers in the annual U. S. Trotting Assn. poll, in results announced yesterday.

Louisiana Cager First to Hit 3,000

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Bob Hopkins, 6-9 Grambling (La.) College center, is the first college basketball player in history to score 3,000 points.

The lanky scoring ace reached and passed the mark last week when he tallied 69 points in two games against Wiley to run his career total to 3,062 in 103 games. According to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, Hopkins supplanted Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broaddus as the record holder. Hartman, who finished his four years of competition last year, scored 2,959.

Nelson, Hornsby In Texas Sports Hall of Famous

Dallas, Tex. (NEA)—Byron Nelson will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame here, Dec. 31, along with Rogers Hornsby.

The announcement says the golfer and ballplayer brought lasting honor to the Lone Star State. Elections are by Texas sports writers. Previously elected were Ben Hogan and Mrs. Babe Zaharias of golf, baseball's Tris Speaker and football's Sammy Baugh.

The ceremony will be a feature of Cotton Bowl week.

Holy Cross, NYU Clash in Garden Doubleheader

Undefeated Holy Cross and New York University, both with 4-0 records, meet in the feature game of Saturday night's collegiate doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

In the 7:30 opener, high-ranking Alabama (4-1) takes on St. Johns (1-1).

HOLY CROSS paced by All-American Tom Heinsohn has averaged 88 points per game. Tommy DeLuca is averaging 23.5 a game for the Violets. Alabama's stickouts are two All-American candidates—6-8 Jerry Harper and George Linn.

Nashua Sold for World Record Million ¼ to Kentucky Group

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Mighty Nashua will be shipped to Florida next week to continue his sensational racing career after a fabulous transaction that saw a new ownership take over the champion colt for a fantastic world record price of $1,251,200.

In a Wall Street setting that befitted such a gilt edge deal, executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr., sold Nashua yesterday to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

This was the greatest single horse trade ever concluded, involving an unprecedented sale of a great colt still at the peak of his racing career. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 81-year-old trainer of Nashua, will take charge of the big 3-year-old again late next week.

NASHUA, OF course, was the big news in the dollars and cents part of the bargain. But for the sentimentalists the clink of hard cold cash was no compensation for the fact that fate at the same time decreed the passing of the famous Belair Stud—one of racing's greatest stables founded 45 years ago by William Woodward Sr.

A total of 62 horses, including Nashua, sold under sealed bids for a grand total of $1,866,200. Combs said Nashua would be sent from Kentucky to Hialeah Park in Miami to begin training for the $100,000 added Widener Handicap Feb. 18.

Nine other race horses and 12 yearlings went to John Kroese, Teaneck, N. J., electrical supply man who owns a racing stable, for $205,000. Mildred W. Woolwine of White Oaks Farm, Lexington, Ky., breeder of Helioscope, a top 1955 hanidcap horse, paid $410,000 for 24 Belair broodmares and 16 weanlings.

The finest gift container is the one that contains the finest whiskey

One thing is sure about a gift of fine whiskey: the shape of the container adds nothing to that moment when the whiskey is poured... and tasted. For that reason, we at Seagram concentrate solely on the distilling of fine whiskey.

Chicago, Dec. 16 (AP)—Veteran Joe Wilman, a former champion, and Anita Cantaline of Detroit, held the top spot after the first day's competition in the finals of the National All-Star bowling tournament.

Wilman, champion in 1945-46, continued his excellent sniping yesterday during the opening day's four four-game matches and held a 3.15 Petersen point lead over youthful Dick Weber of St. Louis. Wilman, of suburban Berwyn, moved into the top at the end of the third match, displacing Weber.

IN MARCHING to the front, Wilman won 13 of the 16 games. He defeated Stan Thaden, Chicago; Harry Smith, Detroit; Weber, and Tom Hennessey, Detroit, in that order. He pulled up 79.34 points to Weber's 76.19.

Miss Cantaline, a bowling instructor, has 39.05 points. She won all her eight games, for a 1.63 point lead over Marge Herrick, of Columbus, Ohio.

Louisiana Cager First to Hit 3,000

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Bob Hopkins, 6-9 Grambling (La.) College center, is the first college basketball player in history to score 3,000 points.

The lanky scoring ace reached and passed the mark last week when he tallied 69 points in two games against Wiley to run his career total to 3,062 in 103 games. According to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, Hopkins supplanted Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broaddus as the record holder. Hartman, who finished his four years of competition last year, scored 2,959.

Dallas, Tex. (NEA)—Byron Nelson will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame here, Dec. 31, along with Rogers Hornsby.

The announcement says the golfer and ballplayer brought lasting honor to the Lone Star State. Elections are by Texas sports writers. Previously elected were Ben Hogan and Mrs. Babe Zaharias of golf, baseball's Tris Speaker and football's Sammy Baugh.

The ceremony will be a feature of Cotton Bowl week.

Holy Cross, NYU Clash in Garden Doubleheader

Undefeated Holy Cross and New York University, both with 4-0 records, meet in the feature game of Saturday night's collegiate doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

HOLY CROSS paced by All-American Tom Heinsohn has averaged 88 points per game. Tommy DeLuca is averaging 23.5 a game for the Violets. Alabama's stickouts are two All-American candidates—6-8 Jerry Harper and George Linn.

Nashua Sold for World Record Million ¼ to Kentucky Group

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Mighty Nashua will be shipped to Florida next week to continue his sensational racing career after a fabulous transaction that saw a new ownership take over the champion colt for a fantastic world record price of $1,251,200.

In a Wall Street setting that befitted such a gilt edge deal, executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr., sold Nashua yesterday to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

This was the greatest single horse trade ever concluded, involving an unprecedented sale of a great colt still at the peak of his racing career. Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 81-year-old trainer of Nashua, will take charge of the big 3-year-old again late next week.

NASHUA, OF course, was the big news in the dollars and cents part of the bargain. But for the sentimentalists the clink of hard cold cash was no compensation for the fact that fate at the same time decreed the passing of the famous Belair Stud—one of racing's greatest stables founded 45 years ago by William Woodward Sr.

A total of 62 horses, including Nashua, sold under sealed bids for a grand total of $1,866,200. Combs said Nashua would be sent from Kentucky to Hialeah Park in Miami to begin training for the $100,000 added Widener Handicap Feb. 18.

Nine other race horses and 12 yearlings went to John Kroese, Teaneck, N. J., electrical supply man who owns a racing stable, for $205,000. Mildred W. Woolwine of White Oaks Farm, Lexington, Ky., breeder of Helioscope, a top 1955 hanidcap horse, paid $410,000 for 24 Belair broodmares and 16 weanlings.

Boys Club Junior Cagers Open New Season Tonight

The Junior league is composed of four teams in the 9-14 age group. Under special rules, the 10-second and three-second rule will be eliminated. The game is played on a half-court length with 8-minute quarters. The league will emphasize sportsmanship.

Reese Inks Pact; Bavasi Suggests Lighter Schedule

Brooklyn, Dec. 16 (AP)—Pee Wee Reese, 36-year-old captain of Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers, has signed his 1956 contract but vice president Buzzy Bavasi, for one, hopes he doesn't try to play every game. Reese, first of the Dodgers to sign a new contract, reportedly received a boost of $1,000 to $36,000.

"If he tries to play 150 games or so, he may break down in one more year," said Bavasi, "but if he plays, say 130, he'll be good for two or three more—and help us a lot more that way."

Some time next season, they'll stop a Brooklyn game and hand Reese a baseball. It will be for his 2,000th National League hit. He needs just 84.

Ski Conditions

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Skiing conditions as reported Thursday to the New York State Department of Commerce:

Alpine Meadows—3 powder, 1-3 granular base. Tows not operating.

BELLEAYRE—4 powder, 3 base, fair.

Old Forge—4 new snow, 6 settled. No skiing.

Maroons to Play At Catskill High

Kingston High School's basketball team will play at the Catskill High court tonight in a non-league game. The Kingstonians will be seeking their fourth victory.

The varsity game will begin at approximately 8:30 o'clock. The jayvee contest is scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock.

Dons Seek 30th Straight in Go With Marquette

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons and their fabulous All-America Bill Russell shoot for their 30th straight victory against Marquette in Chicago tonight as the whirl of Christmas holiday major college basketball tournaments gets under way.

The Dons, who snared the NCAA crown last year on the great play of the 6:10 Russell, tangle with Marquette in the feature first round game of the DePaul Invitation. They will take the floor following the other first round game between Duquesne and DePaul starting at 8:45 p. m. EST. The winners play for the tourney title Saturday.

THE BLUE-GRAY tournament at Montgomery, Ala., bringing together Auburn, Eastern Kentucky, Mississippi and Texas also opens tonight.

Kentucky nipped Maryland 62-61 in the top game of a Thursday night program that also saw Oklahoma defeat Arkansas 69-59, Tulsa take Western Kentucky 67-56, Oklahoma City trim Wyoming 65-59, Kansas State drub Los Angeles Loyola 92-66, Tufts upset Harvard 84-76, Yale scalp Wesleyan 97-36, Kentucky Wesleyan whip Hardin-Simmons 68-60, Tennessee wallop Springfield (Mass.) 67-33 and the Citadel end a 28-game losing streak by beating College of Charleston 56-52.

Trotting Association Picks Pacing Leaders

Scott Frost, Saboteur and Kimberly Kid won similar honors for trotters.

The selections were made by sports writers in the annual U. S. Trotting Assn. poll, in results announced yesterday.

One thing is sure about a gift of fine whiskey: the shape of the container adds nothing to that moment when the whiskey is poured... and tasted. For that reason, we at Seagram concentrate solely on the distilling of fine whiskey.

Only the finest is fine enough for Christmas

San Francisco—(NEA)—Football has changed so much in character, and characters, a player away from it five years would be lost in a welter of Z-outs, flares and other gobbledy-gook, maintains Frankie Albert of the 49ers. . . .

Think the pros are hardened and blase? After six years in the National Footbal League, preceded by four in college, Li'l Arthur Donovan, the 262-pound tackle of the Colts, still loses his breakfast before every game. . . . And how about Gino Marchetti, the Pro Bowl end, cloth clenched between his teeth as a dressing room doctor manipulated his separated shoulder back in place, rasping, "Can I go back in the second half, Doc?" (he was out five games). . . .

Despite their current rapport, it wasn't too long ago LA promoter Babe McCoy spat in the face of Al Weil in lieu of a ringside handclasp. . . .

Leo Nomellini of the 49ers, unhappy over being confined to offensive tackle, may give it all up for his lucrative mat career. . . . The only thing that kept Alan Ameche from a dual wrestling-grid career was the hours—he didn't like the life of traveling all the time . . . and besides, that purported $100,000 mat offer was a phony. . . .

The most disgracefully run press box in the country is Kezar Stadium, loaded with political dead-heads in the choice seats.

Chuck Taylor insists he did not pick Michigan State over UCLA in the Rose Bowl game, as quoted . . . indications are that Pappy Waldorf will be back at Cal next season because of sympathy tide . . . Commercials for the telecast of the Rose Bowl game must all be cleared beforehand by the Pacific Coast Conference.

College of the Pacific, a power among the dwindling independents on the coast, is in real financial trouble . . . saddled with a mortgaged stadium that cost $300,000 more than anticipated . . . and unable to average the 18,000 paid that will clear the nut . . . Biggest hope for salvation is phenom halfback Dick Bass coming up from the freshmen who, says Coach Moose Myers, could play regular halfback on any professional team—right now! . . .

Baltimore tackle Tom Finnin, one of the best, is being forced into retirement . . . because the Chicago police force, his off-season employer, doesn't cotton to the publicity he gets—or the annual leave of absence to play ball. . . .

It's true George Shaw and Ameche are two of the brightest rookies ever to land in the pro grid ranks . . . but George still has to master the art of changing plays on the line of scrimmage to counter shifting defenses . . . and Ameche has a long way to go in other arts of fullbacking besides ball-carrying, like pass protection and faking beyond the line of scrimmage. . . .

Center Bill Russell, college basketball's oustanding performer at the University of San Francisco, was a high school third-stringer until his senior year. . . .

Between you'n'me, it becomes ever more apparent Alec Cushing did one of the great selling jobs in sports history when he landed the 1960 Winter Olympics for Squaw Valley in the High Sierra . . . because he's entirely dependent on the State of California to finance the $3 million needed to finish the game sites . . . and upwards of $20 million in road construction to get there . . . the whole project could go boom if the legislature got balky.

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.

Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.
They have too many pencils;

Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind

Now if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
For what is it worth —
The suggestion is mine,

BOWLING SCORES

Joe Ruzzo has averaged a cool 222 for his six games in two major leagues this week.

Last night Joltin' Joe unloaded a 671, with 212-192-267, in the Ferraro Major. The night before he toppled 661 in the Central Rec Major.

Ernie Bartroff cracked the hat trick 200-209-229-638 in the Sportsmen's Major.

Best female series was the 504 Dot Guadgnola compiled in the Central Rec Women's circuit. She had games of 184, 177 and 143.

Snead Continues Sizzling Pace With 64 Score

The Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is 43, and for a professional golfer that's up in years. But Sam isn't conceding father time a thing. He's looking, feeling and playing as well or better than ever.

In successive competitive rounds, he has turned in two record performances. As a result of his latest record-smashing effort, he started today's second round in the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament with a two-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

And it put him two strokes ahead of Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, one of the younger pros, and veteran Ted Kroll, Bethesda, Md.

Seven others deadlocked for fourth spot with 67s as 37 of the huge field shattered par and nine others matched it in the opening round. Par for the 6,205-yard course is 36-34—70.

Haughton Holds Money and Race Trotting Titles

The 32-year-old Massapequa, N. Y., driver also established new all-time records. Haughton's 1955 earnings were $599,445. He won 168 races. The previous records, both set by Haughton last year, were $415,577 and 153 wins.

Joe O'Brien of Del Mar, Calif., who handled Horse of the Year Scott Frost, was runnerup in the money department with $421,660. Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N. J., took second place in the race winning category with 130.

This was the fourth straight year Haughton won the national money title and the third consecutive time he captured the race-winning crown. On each occasion he has bettered previous national records in each division.

Lightburn 13-10 Pick Over Dupas

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn, an invader from British Honduras and a recent graduate of the prelim ranks, is a 13-10 favorite to beat lightweight contender Ralph Dupas of New Orleans at Madison Square Garden tonight.

It marks the Garden main event debuts of both youngsters. The 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC-TV), radio, 10 p. m., EST) coast to coast.

THE ODDS ARE strange because Dupas, a seasoned veteran of more than five years of pro battling at 20, figures to have too much experience for the promising 21-year old Lightburn.

Dupas is working on an unbeaten string of nine including victories over former lightweight king Paddy DeMarco, Frankie Ryff and Cisco Andrade. His overall record is 57-6-5 with 10 knockouts.

Lightburn has won four straight and his record all told is 35-6 with 13 knockouts.

Coach Rip Engle of Penn State says Otto Kneidinger, co-captain and tackle from Bellwood, Pa., was the difference as his team beat Syracuse, 21-20. Kneidinger is a 6 foot 3 senior weighing 205 pounds.

Lakers-Nats Set Record

(By The Associated Press)

There was a new record for the National Basketball Assn. book today as the result of the Minneapolis Lakers 135-133 triumph in three overtime periods over the Syracuse Nationals.

The combined score of 268 points surpassed the old mark of 248 hung up by Syracuse and Anderson, Ind., in five overtimes in 1949. Syracuse won that one 125-123.

The only other game played last night was a defensive battle by comparison as the Philadelphia warriors, Eastern Division leaders, turned back the Fort Wayne Pistons 80-73.

Liberty Ends Losing Streak, Beats Fallsburgh

Liberty High School snapped a long DUSO League losing streak last night as it rallied in the fourth period to defeat Fallsburgh Central, 77-69.

The victory was the first for the Indians against a DUSO foe since the 1953-54 season. The team was winless last winter and had dropped its previous two decisions this year.

Santee Runs 2nd Best Flat Mile

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Wes Santee, America's fastest miler, is planning an active indoor campaign after running the second fastest mile ever on a flat track.

The 23-year-old Marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., was clocked in 4:10.2 last night as he won the handicap mile in a Metropolitan AAU development meet. Only Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin ever turned in a faster time on flat boards. His time was 4:09.1.

"I plan a full campaign during the coming indoor season and already have entered several races," Santee said.

San Francisco—(NEA)—Football has changed so much in character, and characters, a player away from it five years would be lost in a welter of Z-outs, flares and other gobbledy-gook, maintains Frankie Albert of the 49ers. . . .

What's this about a private showdown between Red Sanders and Hardiman Cureton, the Uclan captain his coach has consistenly downgraded? . . .

Think the pros are hardened and blase? After six years in the National Footbal League, preceded by four in college, Li'l Arthur Donovan, the 262-pound tackle of the Colts, still loses his breakfast before every game. . . . And how about Gino Marchetti, the Pro Bowl end, cloth clenched between his teeth as a dressing room doctor manipulated his separated shoulder back in place, rasping, "Can I go back in the second half, Doc?" (he was out five games). . . .

Despite their current rapport, it wasn't too long ago LA promoter Babe McCoy spat in the face of Al Weil in lieu of a ringside handclasp. . . .

Leo Nomellini of the 49ers, unhappy over being confined to offensive tackle, may give it all up for his lucrative mat career. . . . The only thing that kept Alan Ameche from a dual wrestling-grid career was the hours—he didn't like the life of traveling all the time . . . and besides, that purported $100,000 mat offer was a phony. . . .

The most disgracefully run press box in the country is Kezar Stadium, loaded with political dead-heads in the choice seats.

Chuck Taylor insists he did not pick Michigan State over UCLA in the Rose Bowl game, as quoted . . . indications are that Pappy Waldorf will be back at Cal next season because of sympathy tide . . . Commercials for the telecast of the Rose Bowl game must all be cleared beforehand by the Pacific Coast Conference.

There's a rookie backfield star in the NFL who can scarcely read English . . . he's got a college degree, too. . . .

College of the Pacific, a power among the dwindling independents on the coast, is in real financial trouble . . . saddled with a mortgaged stadium that cost $300,000 more than anticipated . . . and unable to average the 18,000 paid that will clear the nut . . . Biggest hope for salvation is phenom halfback Dick Bass coming up from the freshmen who, says Coach Moose Myers, could play regular halfback on any professional team—right now! . . .

Baltimore tackle Tom Finnin, one of the best, is being forced into retirement . . . because the Chicago police force, his off-season employer, doesn't cotton to the publicity he gets—or the annual leave of absence to play ball. . . .

It's true George Shaw and Ameche are two of the brightest rookies ever to land in the pro grid ranks . . . but George still has to master the art of changing plays on the line of scrimmage to counter shifting defenses . . . and Ameche has a long way to go in other arts of fullbacking besides ball-carrying, like pass protection and faking beyond the line of scrimmage. . . .

Center Bill Russell, college basketball's outstanding performer at the University of San Francisco, was a high school third-stringer until his senior year. . . .

Between you'n'me, it becomes ever more apparent Alec Cushing did one of the great selling jobs in sports history when he landed the 1960 Winter Olympics for Squaw Valley in the High Sierra . . . because he's entirely dependent on the State of California to finance the $3 million needed to finish the game sites . . . and upwards of $20 million in road construction to get there . . . the whole project could go boom if the legislature got balky.

DECEMBER 26th

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.

Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.
They have too many pencils;

Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.

Now if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
Your gifts won't return.
For what is it worth —
The suggestion is mine,
— Nobody brings back
My Liquors or wine.

Snead Continues Sizzling Pace With 64 Score

Sanford, Fla., Dec. 15 (AP)—Sam Snead is like wine; he seems to get better with age.

The Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is 43, and for a professional golfer that's up in years. But Sam isn't conceding father time a thing. He's looking, feeling and playing as well or better than ever.

In successive competitive rounds, he has turned in two record performances. As a result of his latest record-smashing effort, he started today's second round in the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament with a two-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

And it put him two strokes ahead of Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, one of the younger pros, and veteran Ted Kroll, Bethesda, Md.

Seven others deadlocked for fourth spot with 67s as 37 of the huge field shattered par and nine others matched it in the opening round. Par for the 6,205-yard course is 36-34—70.

Haughton Holds Money and Race Trotting Titles

The 32-year-old Massapequa, N. Y., driver also established new all-time records. Haughton's 1955 earnings were $599,445. He won 168 races. The previous records, both set by Haughton last year, were $415,577 and 153 wins.

Joe O'Brien of Del Mar, Calif., who handled Horse of the Year Scott Frost, was runnerup in the money department with $421,660. Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N. J., took second place in the race winning category with 130.

This was the fourth straight year Haughton won the national money title and the third consecutive time he captured the race-winning crown. On each occasion he has bettered previous national records in each division.

Lightburn 13-10 Pick Over Dupas

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn, an invader from British Honduras and a recent graduate of the prelim ranks, is a 13-10 favorite to beat lightweight contender Ralph Dupas of New Orleans at Madison Square Garden tonight.

It marks the Garden main event debuts of both youngsters. The 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC-TV), radio, 10 p. m., EST) coast to coast.

THE ODDS ARE strange because Dupas, a seasoned veteran of more than five years of pro battling at 20, figures to have too much experience for the promising 21-year old Lightburn.

Dupas is working on an unbeaten string of nine including victories over former lightweight king Paddy DeMarco, Frankie Ryff and Cisco Andrade. His overall record is 57-6-5 with 10 knockouts.

Lightburn has won four straight and his record all told is 35-6 with 13 knockouts.

Coach Rip Engle of Penn State says Otto Kneidinger, co-captain and tackle from Bellwood, Pa., was the difference as his team beat Syracuse, 21-20. Kneidinger is a 6 foot 3 senior weighing 205 pounds.

Lakers-Nats Set Record

(By The Associated Press)

There was a new record for the National Basketball Assn. book today as the result of the Minneapolis Lakers 135-133 triumph in three overtime periods over the Syracuse Nationals.

The combined score of 268 points surpassed the old mark of 248 hung up by Syracuse and Anderson, Ind., in five overtimes in 1949. Syracuse won that one 125-123.

The only other game played last night was a defensive battle by comparison as the Philadelphia warriors, Eastern Division leaders, turned back the Fort Wayne Pistons 80-73.

Liberty Ends Losing Streak, Beats Fallsburgh

Liberty High School snapped a long DUSO League losing streak last night as it rallied in the fourth period to defeat Fallsburgh Central, 77-69.

The victory was the first for the Indians against a DUSO foe since the 1953-54 season. The team was winless last winter and had dropped its previous two decisions this year.

Harvey Findling had 19 and Carl Brasky and George Fedun 12 each for Fallsburgh.

The Fallsburgh squad was leading until the final session, when Lawrence and Davis sparked a LHS drive.

Frick Promises Player Hearing

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Major league baseball club owners will get another chance to hear the players' proposals, which they rejected at their recent meeting in Chicago.

Commissioner Ford Frick yesterday promised the players representatives, Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Bob Feller of the Indians, that he will see that the demands are resubmitted at a Feb. 4 meeting of the owners.

The two major items being pressed by the players are: Increase of minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200 and the right to participate in the negotiations for a new TV contract, which expires after the 1956 World Series.

Paltz Professor Is Association Speaker

The Port Ewen School Association met Dec. 7 at the Town Auditorium and heard Dr. George W. Bond, professor of Education at New Paltz State Teachers College speaking on teaching reading in the grammar school.

There were 2,633 half pints of milk purchased at the school, it was reported. Plans for the new school are expected to be completed by Jan. 1. Plans also were discussed for the children's Christmas party scheduled for each room on Dec. 22. School children are planning an assembly program to be held in the town auditorium Friday morning, Dec. 23.

Refreshments were served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis Goldberg and the table was decorated in keeping with the Christmas theme. The next regular meeting of the association will be held Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the auditorium and will feature an interesting program on mental health.

Two Charged With $50,000 Store Plot

Portland, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP)—A blind man and his sister-in-law were charged early today with bombing the big Meir and Frank Co. Dept. Store in a $50,000 extortion plot eight months ago.

William B. Browne, detective captain, said William Clarence Peddicord, 38, hatched the plot and planted the bomb, assisted by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joyce Keller, 28.

Browne said they were charged with injuring persons and property by explosives. Bond was set at $75,000 each.

The bomb exploded in a men's washroom in the 12-story store, Portland's largest, April 15. A few persons were hit by flying debris, but no serious injuries were reported.

Kefauver in Race

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) plunged into the Democratic presidential nomination race today, and announced he will enter as many state primaries as time and money will permit. Kefauver, who led in the early balloting at the 1952 party convention but lost the nomination to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he plans a vigorous campaign. Stevenson already has announced he will enter five primaries. Kefauver is expected to meet Stevenson head on in some of these. Gov. Frank Lausch of Ohio was announced as a favorite son candidate. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York says he is an "inactive" candidate.

Work Halted at Base

Plattsburg, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Construction on the air force's big bomber base here was halted today when three unions struck in protest of the dismissal of 22 members. Members of other unions working on the base refused to cross picket lines thrown up by the strikers. The total work force of about 1,500 men was idled. An air force spokesman at the base said the strike stemmed from the air force's decision to replace the 22 union men with a crew of non-union, civil service workers. By order of the air force, the Raff Construction Company yesterday layed off the union crew.

Frick Promises Player Hearing

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Major league baseball club owners will get another chance to hear the players' proposals, which they rejected at their recent meeting in Chicago.

Commissioner Ford Frick yesterday promised the players representatives, Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Bob Feller of the Indians, that he will see that the demands are resubmitted at a Feb. 4 meeting of the owners.

The two major items being pressed by the players are: Increase of minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200 and the right to participate in the negotiations for a new TV contract, which expires after the 1956 World Series.

Methodists Plan Yule Eve Service

Port Ewen, Dec. 16—There will be a candlelight service at the Port Ewen Methodist Church Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, from 11 p. m. until 12 o'clock midnight.

Raymond Howe of Utica will be the guest soloist. There also will be special music by the choir.

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered.

A cordial invitation is extended to the members and friends of the Port Ewen Reformed Church and the Rifton and Esopus Methodist Churches. The public also is invited.

Christmas Party Is Held by WCTU Group

The December meeting of the Ulster Park-Port Ewen Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Samuel P. Tinney. The following program was presented by Miss Mary F. Bishop, program leader:

Singing, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing, Christmas Bible scripture reading and prayer; readings, The Black Madonna and A Blue Christmas. Singing, Silent Night, Holy Night.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leslie Herring. The meeting closed with the WCTU benediction which was followed by a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those attending were Mrs. Herring, Mrs. Henry Osborn, Mrs. S. T. Van Aken, Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Roy Van Dermark, Mrs. Richard Terpening, Mrs. Edgar Pilz, Miss Annie Terpening, Miss Ann K. S. Wood, Mrs. S. Tinney and Miss Mary F. Bishop.

Village Briefs

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank W. Coutant were the dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Killinder at their home in Ulster Park Sunday.

The Hope Social Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Bonstell on Salem street Saturday. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6 p. m. The supper will be followed by a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Mrs. James Tinnie will be the co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Loseee and granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Parker who have been the guests of Mr. Losee's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Zale Liese have returned to their home in Glenport.

The Home Demonstration Unit will hold its monthly meeting at the firehouse Tuesday, Dec. 20, at 8 p. m. The meeting will be followed by a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Members are asked to bring the completed scuffs. The following committees will be in charge: Refreshments, Mrs. Vernon Frost, Mrs. John Shupp, Mrs. L. E. Sanford and Miss Catherine Gardner; games, Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. Joseph Costello and Mrs. Harlow DeForest.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Company will meet at the firehouse Monday, Dec. 19. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. The business meeting will be held at 8 p. m., followed by the Christmas party and exchange of gifts. All members are invited to attend.

Paltz Professor Is Association Speaker

The Port Ewen School Association met Dec. 7 at the Town Auditorium and heard Dr. George W. Bond, professor of Education at New Paltz State Teachers College speaking on teaching reading in the grammar school.

There were 2,633 half pints of milk purchased at the school, it was reported. Plans for the new school are expected to be completed by Jan. 1. Plans also were discussed for the children's Christmas party scheduled for each room on Dec. 22. School children are planning an assembly program to be held in the town auditorium Friday morning, Dec. 23.

Refreshments were served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis Goldberg and the table was decorated in keeping with the Christmas theme. The next regular meeting of the association will be held Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the auditorium and will feature an interesting program on mental health.

Kelly Would Deduct All Medical Expenses

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Democratic Assemblyman Daniel M. Kelly says New York taxpayers should be allowed to deduct all medical expenses from gross income.

The Manhattan legislator said yesterday he would propose this at the session beginning next month. The present provision, which allows deduction of medical expenses exceeding five per cent of net income, "fails to give financial relief where it may be sorely needed," he said.

A Republican measure to allow deduction of medical costs exceeding three per cent of net income was passed by the 1955 Legislature. Gov. Harriman vetoed it.

Connelly Waives Hearing on Tax Conspiracy Case

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Matthew J. Connelly, former President Harry S. Truman's appointments secretary, has waived a hearing on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in a tax case. He said he wants to "meet the issue squarely."

Connelly, 48, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop for an appearance in St. Louis on Monday. Connelly now has a public relations office here.

AT HIS arraignment, Connelly's counsel, Francis W. H. Adams, former New York police commissioner, said the prosecution "springs from political motives and we want to meet them as soon as possible."

Replied U. S. Attorney Paul Williams:

"This is definitely not a political maneuver."

Typhoon Warnings Up

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—Typhoon Ruth, a giant Pacific storm 600 miles across and packing central winds of 150-mile-an-hour force, was churning northeast today on a course that might miss battered Iwo Jima with its tiny U. S. Air Force garrison. The air force typhoon warning center at Clark, Field, Manila, said at 9 a. m. the giant blow was 600 miles south-southeast of Okinawa, heading northeast at 15 miles per hour. By a 9 a. m. Saturday, Ruth is expected to be 525 miles southwest of Iwo.

Sign Trade Pact

Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ceylon signed a trade pact with Communist Czechoslovakia today. Three weeks ago Ceylon and Poland signed a similar agreement. Under the new pact Ceylon will export tea, rubber, coconut products and graphite. Czechoslovakia will send machinery, automobiles, motorcycles, rolling stock, hardware, stationary, textiles, glassware and chemical products.

Connelly Waives Hearing on Tax Conspiracy Case

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Matthew J. Connelly, former President Harry S. Truman's appointments secretary, has waived a hearing on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in a tax case. He said he wants to "meet the issue squarely."

Connelly, 48, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop for an appearance in St. Louis on Monday. Connelly now has a public relations office here.

AT HIS arraignment, Connelly's counsel, Francis W. H. Adams, former New York police commissioner, said the prosecution "springs from political motives and we want to meet them as soon as possible."

Replied U. S. Attorney Paul Williams:

"This is definitely not a political maneuver."

BELIEVE US
If you are the right person for this house you will never find another buy like it. We don't know where to begin to tell you all the good things about it.
LOCATION—Country, 4 miles from Woodstock, 8 miles from I.B.M.
LAND — 8 valuable, level acres. Suitable for children, animals and pets, or just to call your own. Unquestionably worth $7,500. (And probably more) for building lots.
HOUSE—106 ft. long ranch, including a 2-car garage, enclosed breezeway, bus at front porch, large modern kitchen, separate dining room, enormous living room with fireplace, 4 (all on one floor) bedrooms, completely modern throughout. Every room knotty pine paneled. About 1700 sq. ft. of living area in all, including 10 closets, one of which would normally be called a bedroom by itself.
PRICE—$25,000, and owner wants fast action.
Don't say we didn't tell you about this one. It's priced at least $10,000 under its reproduction value, and it's only 3 years old.

Firms Spend 3½ Billion on Study

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—U. S. firms spent 3½ billion dollars and used nearly 30 per cent of their scientists and engineers in research and development work in 1953, a government survey showed today.

The National Science Foundation conducted the study with help from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Some 11,600 companies were questioned as "representative" of industry as a whole, with nearly 90 per cent replying.

The Science Foundation said in a preliminary report that:

The private research and development spending total added to that of schools and government agencies would bring the overall research and development figure for 1953 to more than five billion dollars.

More than one-third of industry's 3½ billions worth of research and development was performed for the federal government, mostly for the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission.

Only 4 per cent of industry's effort was devoted to basic, or fundamental, research.

Elected Treasurer

Rochester, N. Y., Dec .16 (AP)—Cyril Williams has been elected treasurer of the Gannett Co., Inc., and of the Frank E. Gannett Newspaper Foundation, Inc. The Gannett Co. controls a group of 23 newspapers three radio stations and two television stations in four states. The foundation is a philantrophic corporation created by Gannett to perpetuate ownership of the newspaper group. Williams will succeed Herbert W. Cruickshank, who retired as treasurer after retiring as general manager earlier this year.

Governor Presides

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman yesterday presided at swearing-in ceremonies for three state officials. They were Charles Abrams, who became chairman of the State Commission Against Discrimination; Robert C. Weaver, promoted to succeed Abrams as state rent administrator; and Charles Margett, who joined the Temporary State Commission on the Courts.

Politics Can Hurt Farmers, He Says

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Stanley H. Benham, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., says he fears partisan politics may produce a "hastily conceived" farm program.

Benham told a news conference yesterday he believed both the Democratic and Republican parties may be "tempted" to woo the farm vote in next year's presidential campaign with "short-cut answers" to the farmers' problems.

Such an approach, he said, would be "designed more for political expediency than for the good of agriculture."

"There is no short-cut solution." Benham said, adding: "It is disturbing to see the vital problems of our nation's agriculture made a political football."

Another Strike Looms

Detroit, Dec. 16 (AP)—Detroit's three strike-closed metropolitan daily newspapers faced a new strike threat today. AFL-CIO Teamsters Union members who drive the newspaper delivery trucks when they are rolling said their international union has sanctioned a strike, if they desire, but that no decision had been reached. A walkout of AFL-CIO stereotypers—the only unionists currently and officially on strike — closed the morning Free Press and the afternoon Times and News 16 days ago.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER—OLGA BRUNS, Plaintiff, against ERWIN BRUNS, also known as IRVING BRUNS, MAX BRUNS, ALFRED BRUNS, AUGUST BRUNS, KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, if living, and all devisees, distributees and heirs at law of the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, if they be deceased, and also all persons who, by purchase or inheritance or otherwise, have or claim to have an interest in the premises described in the complaint herein, derived through the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, or through their devisees, distributees or heirs at law, respectively, or through any of them, which devisees, distributees, heirs at law and other persons, if any there be, and their names are unknown to plaintiff, and all persons who have or make any claim whatever as Executors or Administrators of any person who may be deceased and who, if living, would have any interest in the premises described in the complaint herein derived through the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, or their devisees, distributees or heirs at law, respectively, which persons, if any there be and their names are unknown to plaintiff, and THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, Defendants. TO THE ABOVE-NAMED DEFENDANTS:—

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED to answer the complaint in this action and to serve a copy of your answer or if the complaint is not served with this summons to serve a notice of appearance on the plaintiff's Attorney within twenty (20) days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated, November 18th, 1955.

TO THE DEFENDANTS:— KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, if living, and all devisees, distributees and heirs at law of the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, if they be deceased, and also all persons who, by purchase or inheritance or otherwise, have or claim to have an interest in the premises described in the complaint herein, derived through the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, or through their devisees, distributees or heirs at law, respectively, or through any of them, which devisees, distributees, heirs at law and other persons, if any there be, and their names are unknown to plaintiff, and all persons who have or make any claim whatever as Executors or Administrators of any person who may be deceased and who, if living, would have any interest in the premises described in the complaint herein derived through the said KARL BRUNS and ELLA TEICHERT, also known as ELLA TEIGBERT, or their devisees, distributees or heirs at law, respectively, which persons, if any there be and their names are unknown to plaintiff.

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Honorable Harry E. Schirick, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 19th day of November, 1955 and filed on the 21st day of November, 1955 with the complaint in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster.

The object of this action is to compel the determination of any claim adverse to that of the plaintiff which any of the defendants herein make or which it appears from the public records they might make in the real estate hereinafter described.

The property in question is described as follows:—

TRACT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Rosendale County of Ulster, viz:—

¾ acre, more or less, described as residence Maple Hill. State Road. Bounded north by Birmingham, east by road, south and west by Damo Keohler against which the words "Buchman, Arnold" appear on the assessment roll of the Town of Rosendale for year 1937.

BEING the same premises as described in a certain deed given by V. T. Pine, County Treasurer of Ulster County, to Olga Bruns, dated January 27, 1940 and recorded August 24, 1940 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 612 of Deeds at page 94, and

ALSO the following tract piece or parcel of land situated in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster, viz: 13 acres, more or less, described as farm. Maple Hill, State Road. Bounded north by LeFever, east by Herman, south by Wagner, west by State Road, against which the words "Buchman, Arnold" appear on the assessment roll of the Town of Rosendale for the year 1937.

BEING the same premises as described in a certain deed given by V. T. Pine as County Treasurer of Ulster County to Olga Bruns dated January 29, 1940 and recorded August 24, 1940 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 612 of Deeds at page 95.

AIRMAN A. J. BUSH

Airman First Class Arthur J. Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bush of Olive Bridge, has recently completed a 30-day re-enlistment leave with his parents before returning to his Air Force assignment in Germany. Airman Bush was granted this leave because of his re-enlisting in the U. S. Air Force for a period of six years.

Airman Bush is assigned to Furstenfeldenbruck Air Force Base, Munich, Germany and has been there for three years. After Airman Bush completes his extension tour of one year in Germany, he will be assigned to his choice of base upon his return to the United States.

Check Oils, Fuel In Air Pollution

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines will try to find out how different oils and motor fuels affect air contomination as a first step in seeking ways to reduce air pollution from exhaust gases.

Acting Director T. H. Miller announced today that the Bureau will make the study as one of four air pollution research projects it is undertaking in cooperation with the Public Health Service.

The Weather Bureau and the National Bureau of Standards will work on other phases of the problem, the health service said last night.

The health service has agreed to allocate $98,000 to the bureau for the work, authorized under a 1955 law providing for a five-year nation-wide campaign to make the air in communities more healthful.

The work on exhaust cases of automobiles, trucks, buses and other vehicles will be done at the Bureau of Mines Petroleum Experiment Station at Bartlesville, Okla.

Swims to Save Man

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 21-year-old coast guardsman swam through rough, frigid seas early today to rescue a barge captain marooned when his craft ran aground off the rocky shore of Plum Island near midnight. The coast guard here said Seaman Sherwood R. Anderson, of Niantic, Conn., swam about 30 yards through heavy surf to reach the barge. The island is located off the tip of Orient Point, L. I. With the aid of a line he towed behind him, the coast guardsman brought the barge captain, Walter Helm, of 25 South street, New York city, to shore. The coast guard said Helm's 115-foot barge, loaded with 800 tons of crushed rock, had run aground after it was cut loose by a tug boat because of rough weather.

Asks Ouster Probe

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—An investigation into the ouster of Frederick B. Lee as civil aeronautics administrator has been asked by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.). He suggested an inquiry in a letter to Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) of the House Commerce Committee. The American people, Gathings said, "are entitled to know the back ground and reason which motivated Lee's ouster."

Predicts Big 1956

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, president of General Electric Co., predicts his firm's sales in 1956 will be 10 to 15 per cent over this year. Cordiner told a yearend news conference yesterday he expected the country's business in general to climb four to six per cent. GE's profits this year, he said, will set a new high, and 1956 sales "will approach" the record $3,128,100,000 chalked up two years ago.

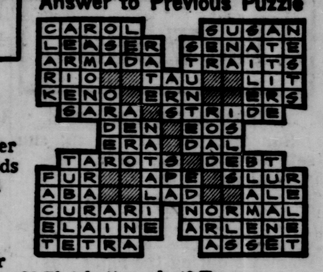
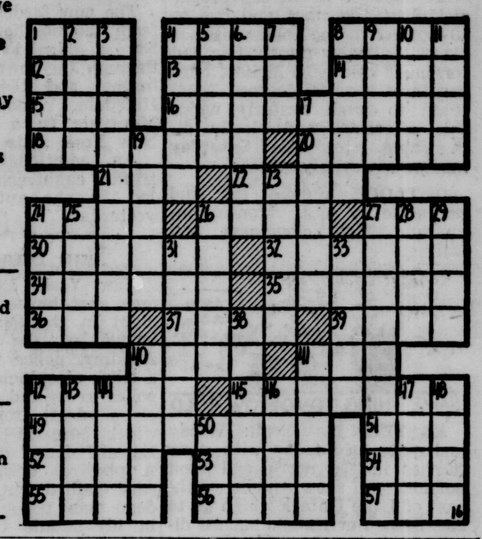
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Favors Flexible Supports

Chicago, Dec. 16 (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation is on record in favor of flexible government price supports and a proposal for a soil bank. The soil bank proposal won approval without opposition at the group's final session of its annual convention yesterday. But southern cotton growers raised a cry against the okay for flexible price supports. The cotton growers sought yesterday to get delegates to the federation's 37th annual meeting to back rigid 90 per cent of parity supports.

HISTORIC SITE SUPERINTENDENT VACANCY

There is a vacancy as Superintendent of Historic Sites at Washington's Headquarters, Newburgh, which is under the jurisdiction of the New York State Education Department at a starting salary of $2530 a year. This salary will be increased in five years to $3360. The person selected for this position will have for his use a three room heated apartment on the site with telephone and electric service included.

The appointee will have charge of the historic site with its valuable collection of furnishings and mementos and will supervise four subordinate employes.

Requirements for this position, which is open to either a man or woman, include high school graduation and either two years of experience as a curator in a history museum or two years of experience in the maintenance of buildings and grounds.

Applicants who meet these qualifications should contact Dr. Carlos E. Fallon, President of the Board of Trustees of Washington's Headquarters, 205 Grand Street, Newburgh for an application and any further information needed.

Firms Spend 3½ Billion on Study

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—U. S. firms spent 3½ billion dollars and used nearly 30 per cent of their scientists and engineers in research and development work in 1953, a government survey showed today.

The National Science Foundation conducted the study with help from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Some 11,600 companies were questioned as "representative" of industry as a whole, with nearly 90 per cent replying.

The Science Foundation said in a preliminary report that:

The private research and development spending total added to that of schools and government agencies would bring the overall research and development figure for 1953 to more than five billion dollars.

More than one-third of industry's 3½ billions worth of research and development was performed for the federal government, mostly for the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission.

Only 4 per cent of industry's effort was devoted to basic, or fundamental, research.

Elected Treasurer

Rochester, N. Y., Dec .16 (AP)—Cyril Williams has been elected treasurer of the Gannett Co., Inc., and of the Frank E. Gannett Newspaper Foundation, Inc. The Gannett Co. controls a group of 23 newspapers three radio stations and two television stations in four states. The foundation is a philantrophic corporation created by Gannett to perpetuate ownership of the newspaper group. Williams will succeed Herbert W. Cruickshank, who retired as treasurer after retiring as general manager earlier this year.

Governor Presides

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman yesterday presided at swearing-in ceremonies for three state officials. They were Charles Abrams, who became chairman of the State Commission Against Discrimination; Robert C. Weaver, promoted to succeed Abrams as state rent administrator; and Charles Margett, who joined the Temporary State Commission on the Courts.

Politics Can Hurt Farmers, He Says

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Stanley H. Benham, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn., says he fears partisan politics may produce a "hastily conceived" farm program.

Benham told a news conference yesterday he believed both the Democratic and Republican parties may be "tempted" to woo the farm vote in next year's presidential campaign with "short-cut answers" to the farmers' problems.

Such an approach, he said, would be "designed more for political expediency than for the good of agriculture."

"There is no short-cut solution," Benham said adding: "It is disturbing to see the vital problems of our nation's agriculture made a political football."

Another Strike Looms

Detroit, Dec. 16 (AP)—Detroit's three strike-closed metropolitan daily newspapers faced a new strike threat today. AFL-CIO Teamsters Union members who drive the newspaper delivery trucks when they are rolling said their international union has sanctioned a strike, if they desire, but that no decision had been reached. A walkout of AFL-CIO stereotypers—the only unionists currently and officially on strike — closed the morning Free Press and the afternoon Times and News 16 days ago.

AIRMAN A. J. BUSH

Airman First Class Arthur J. Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bush of Olive Bridge, has recently completed a 30-day re-enlistment leave with his parents before returning to his Air Force assignment in Germany. Airman Bush was granted this leave because of his re-enlisting in the U. S. Air Force for a period of six years.

Airman Bush is assigned to Furstenfeldenbruck Air Force Base, Munich, Germany and has been there for three years. After Airman Bush completes his extension tour of one year in Germany, he will be assigned to his choice of base upon his return to the United States.

Check Oils, Fuel In Air Pollution

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines will try to find out how different oils and motor fuels affect air contomination as a first step in seeking ways to reduce air pollution from exhaust gases.

Acting Director T. H. Miller announced today that the Bureau will make the study as one of four air pollution research projects it is undertaking in cooperation with the Public Health Service.

The Weather Bureau and the National Bureau of Standards will work on other phases of the problem, the health service said last night.

The health service has agreed to allocate $98,000 to the bureau for the work, authorized under a 1955 law providing for a five-year nation-wide campaign to make the air in communities more healthful.

The work on exhaust cases of automobiles, trucks, buses and other vehicles will be done at the Bureau of Mines Petroleum Experiment Station at Bartlesville, Okla.

Swims to Save Man

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 21-year-old coast guardsman swam through rough, frigid seas early today to rescue a barge captain marooned when his craft ran aground off the rocky shore of Plum Island near midnight. The coast guard here said Seaman Sherwood R. Anderson, of Niantic, Conn., swam about 30 yards through heavy surf to reach the barge. The island is located off the tip of Orient Point, L. I. With the aid of a line he towed behind him, the coast guardsman brought the barge captain, Walter Helm, of 25 South street, New York city, to shore. The coast guard said Helm's 115-foot barge, loaded with 800 tons of crushed rock, had run aground after it was cut loose by a tug boat because of rough weather.

Asks Ouster Probe

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—An investigation into the ouster of Frederick B. Lee as civil aeronautics administrator has been asked by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.). He suggested an inquiry in a letter to Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) of the House Commerce Committee. The American people, Gathings said, "are entitled to know the back ground and reason which motivated Lee's ouster."

Predicts Big 1956

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, president of General Electric Co., predicts his firm's sales in 1956 will be 10 to 15 per cent over this year. Cordiner told a yearend news conference yesterday he expected the country's business in general to climb four to six per cent. GE's profits this year, he said, will set a new high, and 1956 sales "will approach" the record $3,128,100,000 chalked up two years ago.

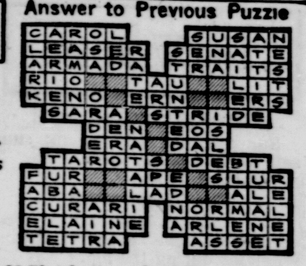
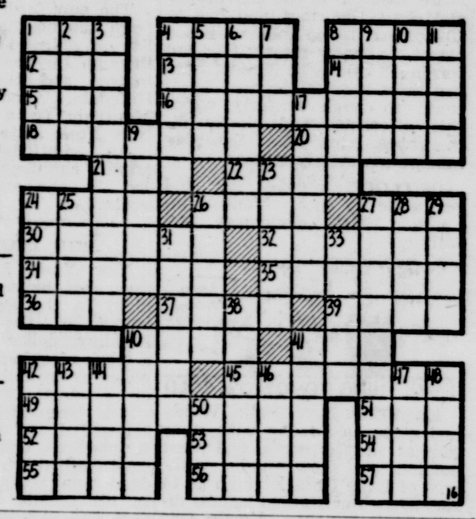
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Favors Flexible Supports

Chicago, Dec. 16 (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation is on record in favor of flexible government price supports and a proposal for a soil bank. The soil bank proposal won approval without opposition at the group's final session of its annual convention yesterday. But southern cotton growers raised a cry against the okay for flexible price supports. The cotton growers sought yesterday to get delegates to the federation's 37th annual meeting to back rigid 90 per cent of parity supports.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 17 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 30 degrees.

Weather Forecast

NEW YORK CITY and vicinity—Mostly fair and continued cold this afternoon with highest temperatures in the middle 20s. Clear and continued cold again tonight with the lowest temperature about 15 in the city proper and along the coast and five to 10 degrees in the colder interior places. Saturday mostly fair and continued cold with highest temperatures near 30 degrees. Moderate to fresh westerly winds this afternoon and slowly diminishing tonight. Saturday moderate westerly winds.

OUTLOOK—Sunday fair and not quite so cold. Monday increasing high cloudiness and warmer.

SAME THING TOMORROW, COLD

EASTERN New York: Windy and quite cold today with snow flurries in the north and west portions and snow squalls southeast of Lake Ontario; high 18 to 25. Snow flurries and squalls diminishing tonight. Mostly fair and somewhat colder by morning. Low tonight zero to 10 above except below zero in some mountain valleys. Increasing cloudiness tomorrow and somewhat warmer.

Road Linking Thruway With Jersey Planned

Red Bank, N. J., Dec. 16 (AP)—A nine-mile feeder road will be constructed by the N. J. Highway Authority as a link between the Garden State Parkway and the New York Thruway.

The authority, in announcing its plan for the 18-million-dollar feeder road yesterday, advised D. Louis Tonti to take the necessary steps for arranging temporary financing of the project.

The new feeder road will run from the northern terminus at Rt. 17 in Paramus, north through the township of Washington, and the Boroughs of Hillsdale, Woodcliff Lake and Montvale to a point on the New York state border.

An additional report from traffic engineering consultants led to the authority's action yesterday.

Man Shoots Self

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A man shot himself to death last night in the 86th floor tourist lounge of the Empire State Building, police reported. From a trash receptacle near his body, police recovered tiny fragments of a draft registration card which bore the name of Paul Edward Jones, of Dorset, Ohio. A physical description on the card tallied with that of the dead man, police said. The man, in his middle thirties and six feet one inch tall, shot himself in the right temple with a .38 caliber pistol.

Saugerties C of C Hears of Home Yule Lights Plan

A report on the home-owned and operated Christmas lighting project sponsored by the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce planned for next year was outlined by Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., presided at the regular meeting of the Chamber Tuesday night in the Exempt firemen's rooms of the Municipal building.

Mr. Reynolds offered the report which was presented earlier to the meeting of the board of directors by Herbert Lachmann, chairman of the local project.

THE INITIAL installation for next year would include 17 strings, each with a double scallop and estimated to cost a maximum of $3,000. The home-owned lighting is designed to decrease the yearly costs of renting the Christmas lighting for the business district from an outside firm. Yearly costs for renting have ranged from $1,700 to $1,900.

It was estimated that home-owned lighting after the initial costs of purchasing and installation would cost less than 25 per cent of the yearly renting fee for maintenance and annual installation.

Reports on this year's Christmas lighting fund campaign were given by Otto Baum, treasurer and a report on the Kiddie Christmas party and parade fund was offered by Mrs. Marzell Roming, chairman of the project.

Both urged that local merchants and indutries who have not forwarded their donations should do so in order that the expenses of both projects may be met.

THE MEMBERSHIP voted to delegate any surplus expenses to the special fund to pay the initial costs of next year's home-owned lighting project.

New members accepted into the Chamber for 1956 included K. G. Weigand of Snyder Liquor Store; Michael Tiano, of Cloverleaf Inn and Howard S. Whitaker of Saugerties Dairy.

Upon the recommendation of President Reynolds the members appointed a nominating committee for the annual meeting and election of officers slated for Wednesday, Jan. 11.

President Reynolds appointed a committee to represent the local Chamber on arrangements for the celebration for the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge. They are, Norman Reamer, chairman; Arthur London, David Cates, Albert J. Cawein and Mr. Reynolds.

Masonic Lodge Elects Rover As New Master

Henry J. Rover was elected master during the 165th annual communication of Kingston Lodge, 10 F & AM at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue, on Tuesday.

Also elected and installed were:

Frank L. Vault Jr., senior deacon; Alexander Yosman, junior deacon; Kermit G. Craig, senior master of ceremony; Guy P. Baker, junior master of ceremony; Howard S. Whitaker, marshal; W. W. Fredenburgh, organist; Claude Haines, tiler; Gordon A. Craig Sr., chaplain and Philip E. Kearney, historian.

Reports for the year were submitted showing a good increase of members.

Prior to the meeting a roast beef dinner was served.

Snow flurries and squalls diminishing tonight. Mostly fair and somewhat colder by morning. Low tonight zero to 10 above except below zero in some mountain valleys. Increasing cloudiness tomorrow and somewhat warmer.

Road Linking Thruway With Jersey Planned

Red Bank, N. J., Dec. 16 (AP)—A nine-mile feeder road will be constructed by the N. J. Highway Authority as a link between the Garden State Parkway and the New York Thruway.

The authority, in announcing its plan for the 18-million-dollar feeder road yesterday, advised D. Louis Tonti to take the necessary steps for arranging temporary financing of the project.

Tonti is executive director of the parkway, which now stretches 164 miles from Paramus to Cape May and is operated by the highway authority.

The new feeder road will run from the northern terminus at Rt. 17 in Paramus, north through the township of Washington, and the Boroughs of Hillsdale, Woodcliff Lake and Montvale to a point on the New York state border.

An additional report from traffic engineering consultants led to the authority's action yesterday.

Man Shoots Self

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A man shot himself to death last night in the 86th floor tourist lounge of the Empire State Building, police reported. From a trash receptacle near his body, police recovered tiny fragments of a draft registration card which bore the name of Paul Edward Jones, of Dorset, Ohio. A physical description on the card tallied with that of the dead man, police said. The man, in his middle thirties and six feet one inch tall, shot himself in the right temple with a .38 caliber pistol.

Saugerties C of C Hears of Home Yule Lights Plan

A report on the home-owned and operated Christmas lighting project sponsored by the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce planned for next year was outlined by Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., presided at the regular meeting of the Chamber Tuesday night in the Exempt firemen's rooms of the Municipal building.

Mr. Reynolds offered the report which was presented earlier to the meeting of the board of directors by Herbert Lachmann, chairman of the local project.

THE INITIAL installation for next year would include 17 strings, each with a double scallop and estimated to cost a maximum of $3,000. The home-owned lighting is designed to decrease the yearly costs of renting the Christmas lighting for the business district from an outside firm. Yearly costs for renting have ranged from $1,700 to $1,900.

It was estimated that home-owned lighting after the initial costs of purchasing and installation would cost less than 25 per cent of the yearly renting fee for maintenance and annual installation.

Reports on this year's Christmas lighting fund campaign were given by Otto Baum, treasurer and a report on the Kiddie Christmas party and parade fund was offered by Mrs. Marzell Roming, chairman of the project.

Both urged that local merchants and indutries who have not forwarded their donations should do so in order that the expenses of both projects may be met.

THE MEMBERSHIP voted to delegate any surplus expenses to the special fund to pay the initial costs of next year's home-owned lighting project.

New members accepted into the Chamber for 1956 included K. G. Weigand of Snyder Liquor Store; Michael Tiano, of Cloverleaf Inn and Howard S. Whitaker of Saugerties Dairy.

Upon the recommendation of President Reynolds the members appointed a nominating committee for the annual meeting and election of officers slated for Wednesday, Jan. 11.

President Reynolds appointed a committee to represent the local Chamber on arrangements for the celebration for the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge. They are, Norman Reamer, chairman; Arthur London, David Cates, Albert J. Cawein and Mr. Reynolds.

Don't Spend It All!
This is the time of the year that you receive and spend more money than usual. Of course, you should spend freely for Christmas presents, but when you receive extra money such as bonuses, be sure you deposit a goodly share of it. Extra money in your pocket is too easily spent foolishly and regretted later. Be safe — not sorry . . . . . deposit in your savings account first!
